IN THE BEE TO-DAY

WEATHER.

The local forecast for to-day is cloudy and warmer, possibly snow this evening. For Saturday, possibly light snow, cooler in the evening.

The "low" or storm center in the northwest yesterday is now central on Lake Superior, with its southern limit at Chicago. This storm is accompanied by very little precipitation, and it is likely that its influence will not be felt here for more than 24 hours. The entire lakes are affected by it, and light rain or snow is liable to fall during to-night.

Being on the southern limit Toledo is liable to escape the rain, but will be pretty sure to catch snow by to-morrow night.

The temperature throughout the lake region and the Ohio Valley ranges from 26 to 34 degrees this morning, but will be lower Saturday night. The temperature has risen throughout the country except in the extreme northwest, where it is slightly colder. Cloudy and threatening weather prevails except in the central western states where it is clear and spring like. The highest temperature here yesterday was 27 degrees, the lowest this morning was 18 degrees.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Forecast for Ohio—Light rain, clearing Saturday; south winds.

For Indiana and Illinois—Fair; slightly cooler Saturday; winds becoming west.

For Michigan—Light rain or snow, clearing and colder; northwest winds Saturday afternoon.

For Wisconsin—Generally fair; slightly colder; northwest winds.

MATTA'S MESSAGE

Has Not Yet Been Withdrawn by Chile.

A Challenge to Fight in Plain Words.

The Chip Knocked Off Our Shoulder.

What Will Uncle Sam Do About It?

The Chilean Government Will Ask the United States to Call Mr. Egan Home, and the Request Will be Refused.

New York, Jan. 22.—The World this morning prints the full text of Minister Matta's statement of the Baltimore affair to Pedro Montt, the Chilean minister at Washington. This statement is generally referred to as Matta's insulting note. It bears date of December 11 and is as follows:

Being acquainted with the report of the navy department and the message of the president of the United States, I deem it proper to tell you that the information upon which the said report and message are founded is erroneous and deliberately untrue.

Concerning the refugees, they have never been threatened or treated with cruelty nor has there been any intention to take them out of the legation. Never has the house of the person of the plenipotentiary received any outrage, as is proved by the 11 letters of September, October and November.

Concerning the sailors of the Baltimore there is also no accuracy or straightforwardness in what is said in Washington. The affair occurred in disreputable quarters of the city, the "main top" of Valparaiso, among persons who are not models of discretion. When the police and other forces intervened and calmed the disturbance there were some hundreds of people present and the riot was in progress 10 blocks or more from the place where it commenced.

Mr. Egan sent a letter on October 26, aggressive in design and violent in language, as is seen by the copy of reply sent on October 27. The investigation was commenced on October 18, but it has been delayed on account of the non-appearance before the court of the sailors of the Baltimore and on account of the undue pretensions and refusals of Mr. Egan.

Never on the part of this department has there been tolerated or initiated any provocation. It has maintained itself always in a position which, if it has been one of firmness and prudence, never has been one of aggression, nor will it be one of humility, no matter what may have been divulged in Washington by those persons who may have been interested in giving a decent appearance to his conductor who may have been deceived by erroneous impressions.

The telegrams, notes and letters sent to you contain the truth, the whole truth in everything concerned in these affairs. The ill-feeling and the language connected with them did not originate in this department.

Mr. Tracy and Mr. Harrison have been led into error respecting ourselves, our people and our government. The instructions enjoining impartiality and friendship have not been observed either in the present or the past.

If official charges have not been made against the minister and the naval officers it is because the facts, public and notorious as they are in Chile and the United States, are that our confidential agents have been unable to call attention to them, though the subject of the charges have been well founded.

The request of Balmaceda, the concessions made to him in June and July, everything concerning the Itata, the San Francisco in Quinteros, and the cable companies, are proof of this.

It is deliberately untrue that the American sailors were attacked in different localities. The investigation not being finished it is not yet known who are the guilty persons or what is their number.

You will consider the letter of November 9, replying to Minister Egan, in which the information in his possession was requested, and which he was not willing to give, knowing the fact that he had said that he had the proof as to who were the murderers and the other guilty persons in the affair of October 16.

That letter and all the recent letters will be published here. You ought to translate and publish the same there (in Washington).

Endeavor in the meantime not to give any credit to anything which may be contrary to these statements, being sure of their correctness, as we are here of the right, the honor and the final triumph of Chile, knowing the intrigues which go at present from so low a source and the threats which come from so high an authority. MATTA.

WANT EGAN RECALLED.

Chile Will Make a Request and be Refused—What Then?

Washington, Jan. 22.—The request of the Chilean government for the recall of Minister Egan, which is about to be made through Minister Montt, is not likely to be granted.

It can be said that under no circumstances will Mr. Egan be recalled while the relations between the United States and Chile are strained as at present.

President Harrison is entirely satisfied with Mr. Egan's course as our representative, and has stated this repeatedly in private conversation.

ARBITRATION.

The Chilean Government Will Ask Uncle Sam to Practice What He Preaches.

New York, Jan. 22.—A special to the Herald from Santiago says: As coming from the Chilean foreign office it can be stated that when within the coming week the entire papers in the Baltimore case are in the possession of the Chilean government it will submit its views and ideas to the United States government. Then if the two governments cannot come to an agreement among themselves arbitration will be asked by Chile on the question in dispute.

Secy. Boscunan assured the Herald correspondent that from advices sent to Minister Montt it can be asserted positively that matters between the two countries are in an extremely fair way for settlement. He looks for a speedy arrival at an amicable conclusion.

Secretary Blaine, he says, has acted throughout in a conciliatory manner. It is the general opinion in government circles that alarming messages wired abroad have been sent by interested parties with the intention of influencing the money market, lowering Chilean bonds, and nitrate stocks.

The Herald correspondent says he learns that the withdrawal of Matta's letter is agreeable to both President Harrison and Secretary Blaine.

DANA IS NOT WELL.

He Really Can See Something Good Outside the Sun Office.

New York, Jan. 22.—The Sun this morning says editorially: "We believe the work of the navy department and of the war department during the past six months is a marvel of administrative energy and patriotic vigilance.

"And yet it is this very activity, not inviting a conflict, but following the first principles of national prudence and the ordinary laws of common sense, which furnishes the chief ground of the mugmup attacks on men who are doing their duty.

"Consider two propositions: If war is averted and the government of Chile makes proper reparation for the Valparaiso outrage, it will be for no other reason than because we are ready.

"If war came, and in spite of the warning events of the past three months this country were not prepared for the conflict, the men whom the non-Americans are now criticising for doing their duty, would deserve to be impeached. They would deserve to be hanged.

"Go ahead, servants of the people. You are right. Your work counts for peace and the country is with you."

FEELING THE WAY.

Chile's Action All Along Has Been One Of Delay.

Washington, Jan. 22—The Chilean minister to the United States is feeling his way to see how a request for the recall of Minister Egan would be received. Then his government is ready to make a general suggestion of its willingness to cancel the offensive portions of the Matta circular and if the ultimate findings of the Chilean courts regarding the Baltimore outrage are unsatisfactory to the United States to further consider the question of what reparation is due.

This is the substance of the whole proposition. It means simply further delay and evasions and is no satisfaction of the demands of the United States.

What a Fight Would Mean.

Boston, Jan. 22.—Robert Burnett, a prominent member of the democratic state committee, who spent two years in Chile, said to-day: "Twenty thousand soldiers landing on the Chilean coast would amount to comparatively nothing. It would be but a short time before they were killed or driven away. It would take at least 50,000 soldiers to produce any effect whatever on Chile.

The navy is not large enough to carry that number of soldiers there, and they would have to be transported. The cost would be enormous. War ships might bombard Valparaiso, but that is all they could do. The Chileans are very rash.

"There is no race in the world so hot-headed, and it is very difficult to imagine what will come of this affair. I feel quite sure that if war was declared it would be a long time before we secured a victory. I have no doubt it would come in the end, but not till a good many had been killed and this country put to a great expense. The cost for the mere start will be $2,000,000.

Guns for the Forts.

Astoria, Ore., Jan. 22.—Two eight-inch rifled guns are expected to arrive here for use at Fort Canby at the mouth of the Columbia river. There is a large number of mounted guns at the fort, but they are mostly old style and practically useless. It is expected that similar armament will arrive shortly for Fort Stevens, on the Oregon side.

The Cruiser Charleston.

San Francisco, Jan. 22.—The cruiser Charleston arrived here early this morning from San Diego on her way to Mare Island navy yard, where she will be docked and cleaned.

Capt. Schley Goes to Washington.

San Francisco, Jan. 22.—Capt. Schley, commanding the cruiser Baltimore, has left for Washington, under orders to consult with Secretary Tracy.

HAS SUED SQUIRE.

Tiffin, O., Jan. 22.—Willis Bacon, an attorney of this city, has entered suit against W. I. Squire, chairman of the republican state league, for a balance of $71.55 which he says is due him for services during the late campaign. He spent nearly three months in organizing clubs throughout the state, and claims that a balance of the above amount remains due him which Mr. Squire has thus far failed to settle.

A YEAR FOR BURGLARY.

Wapakoneta, O., Jan. 22.—J. T. Simpson was to-day sentenced to one year in the penitentiary for burglary. Simpson, who is 60 years of age, was convicted of entering the saloon of J. J. Schier and taking $7.95 from the money drawer. He was formerly a traveling salesman, and has heretofore borne an excellent reputation.

Terrible Fire in Indianapolis Last Night.

The Indiana Surgical Institute in Ruins.

Crippled Inmates Left to Their Fate.

Almost Helpless Victims Forget Their Afflictions and Make Frantic Efforts to Save Themselves and Their Friends From Such Awful Death.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 22.—The Indiana Surgical institute burned last night, the flames breaking out just before midnight in the old annex, a block separated from the main building by just a narrow space.

Before the fire was discovered the whole interior was ablaze. The institute had about 500 inmates, most of whom were helpless cripples. When the fire department arrived the windows were full of screaming, moaning cripples and the scene was one of horror beyond description.

The work of rescue was begun at once with ladders and the inmates were removed with great rapidity, but at least 50 were injured, some terribly. In the confusion and excitement it is almost impossible to get names, but some of the worst hurt are:

Mrs. Gales, of Madison, Ind., fell from a ladder with a child in her arms; internally injured.

Kate Elstrang, Indianapolis, fatally burned.

Mrs. Thomas, Indianapolis, fatally burned, recovery doubtful.

There is a story that 15 or more invalids in the annex were suffocated, but this cannot be either verified or disproven. The patient were carried to various hospitals and hotels as fast as rescued and nobody knows who is missing.

One girl was seen to come to a window and a moment later fall back into the flames.

After the fire had been in progress half an hour 20 women were found standing on a rear roof just ready to jump. They had escaped attention in the confusion, though screaming at the top of their voices. They were rescued in safety.

List of injured so far is as follows: Mary Stearns, Warren, Ia., burned about feet.

Clara Morris, address unknown, back injured.

Grant Van Hoesen, Althena, N. Y., hand and ear burned.

Clarence Mead, Athens, N. Y., leg hurt.

William H. Albach, Dunkirk, N. Y., burned.

Leora Knowles, Independence, Ind., back hurt in jumping.

W. W. Snyder, Troy, O., internally injured, falling from the window.

Will Mansfield, Otsego, N. Y., foot hurt in jumping.

Mrs. John S. Stokes, Danville, Ill., ankle sprained.

Nellie Mason, Warworth county, Wis., jumped from third story and is fatally hurt.

Mrs. Lazarus, of Texas, jumped from third story and will die.

Mrs. G. J. Simpson and child, seriously burned.

R. Connor, fell through hole in floor, fatally hurt.

May Ballinger, Indianapolis, terribly burned.

At 3 o'clock this morning the firemen found six dead in the old annex, burned beyond recognition. It is feared that possibly as many as fifteen were suffocated by the smoke and perished in the flames.

A terrible responsibility rests upon the owners of the institute. It was a veritable fire trap. The old annex and main building were nothing more nor less than old fashioned four story business blocks, the main building at the corner of Georgia and Illinois streets, and the annex, immediately east of it, fronting on Georgia street.

The halls were narrow, as were also the stairways; there were no proper exits, no conveniences to be used in case of fire.

The fire originated in the second floor of the annex, near the east wall and burned that building, spreading from it to the main building. The patients in the main building were all gotten out amid indescribable scenes of excitement and horror. Many were rescued from the annex, and it is hoped that all were gotten out, yet it is feared that several were lost.

8 a. m.—Thus far 16 dead bodies have been found in the burning building. They are burned past recognition.

The police and firemen and attendants all worked diligently and in perfect accord, and many were the patients taken from the upper floors by means of ladders and carried to places of safety by them.

No attempt was made to save anything but life, and at the present writing it is unable to learn if any actually burned to death. The patients, both male and female, under ordinary circumstances unable to barely get about, assisted most nobly in the work of rescue.

A view in the halls and on the stairways before the fire had communicated to the main building furnished a weird sight. Inmates wrapped in bedclothing crawled and helped themselves along from one floor and one landing to the other. Many scenes were touching, such as friends stopping to assist others more unfortunate.

The citizens turned in to help in the work of rescue. Cots were rudely constructed from mattrasses, and strong-armed policemen picked the unfortunate ones up and carried them across the street to the new annex out recently purchased by Drs. Allen and Wilson.

An immense crowd gathered about and great anxiety was felt, for it seemed improbable that everybody could have gotten out of the burning mass alive.

The feet of one boy, who was forgotten and lay helpless in bed, were so badly burned that the flesh fell from the bones. His head was near a window and this alone saved him from strangulation.

Terrible Scenes.

At Weddell's restaurant, where 70 or 80 of the patients were carried, the sight presented as one entered and looked upon the indiscriminate gathering of suffering cripples, many of them maddened by pain and anxious for friends, was terrible.

Stretched upon the improvised beds, spread on tables were little children moaning, crying and coughing, their faces blanched with fear, their throats rasped with the pungent smoke they had inhaled.

Grateful Patient.

Said William Kimball, a young man with both legs crippled from the knees down, and his head thrown to one side by a distorted shoulder joint:

"I was sleeping on the fourth floor. I don't know how it was, but I awoke with a sense of strangulation. From less than a foot above my face and up to the ceiling was a dense mass of smoke. I just rolled out of bed; I could not move about with my braces, so I took them off, and remained curled up on my side. It was so hot I thought I was going to die. I called as loud as could, "Help! help!

"Just then there was a crash of the door and a big colored man fell over me. He picked me up bodily, dashed through the halls and down the stairways and brought me here. God knows I am thankful. God in heaven knows I am thankful."

Rescued With Difficulty.

One of the most pitiful cases was that of little 8-year-old Ethel Platt, daughter of James M. Platt, of Pinckneyville, Ill. Little Ethel was found in her bed on the third floor half strangled with smoke and helpless from spinal trouble.

Wrapped in a blanket she was taken up in the arms of a fireman, carried down to the next floor, through dense smoke and past roaring flames, to a window and as the crowd gathered below and extended their arms she was thrown out.

With a broken leg she was taken across Illinois street, placed on a table and covered with blankets. She suffered desperately and frequently screamed out in her agony. She was finally removed from the crowded room and carried to the rooms of Mrs. Gilbert, four doors north of the restaurant. A pillow was placed on the outstretched arms of a gentleman and the child was placed thereon and moved to her more pleasant quarters.

A Mother's Trials.

Mrs. E. D. Purdy was sleeping with her little daughter in a room on what is known as the "A B C" floor and had only time to spring from her bed, throw a quilt over the crippled child and with nothing but her night robe to protect her, commence her escape from the horror that was pressing her.

Out into the hall she rushed, fell to the floor, recovered her feet and then stooping, dragged her little girl about 75 feet to the top of a stairway.

Again she took her child, now unconscious, in her arms, and had made her way half way down the steps leading to the third floor when she lost her balance and fell downward, the little one falling upon the mother and remaining uppermost until she reached the landing, about ten steps below. Here the mother and child were found shortly after by John Gavin, who caught up the little girl in his arms and started down stairs.

A traveling man, whose name could not be learned, took Mrs. Purdy up and started after Gavin. The smoke was stifling, but the men continued to beat their way through the narrow passage-ways and down the flight of stairs. Half way down the flight leading to the second floor Gavin was confronted by a massed crowd of men blocking the passage.

Without waiting for them to make way he raised his foot and sent it crashing into the breast of a man, who went tumbling over a banister and down the stairs. The others gave way and finally Mrs. Purdy and her child were taken over to Weddell's.

Restoratives were administered and they regained consciousness, although both were suffering from nervous prostration.

A missing woman, Mrs. Dr. Button, the lady physician, was last known to be in room 97, caring for a sick boy. Up to a late hour she had not been found, and it is feared she has been overcome by the dense smoke and perished.

Powerless to Move.

Lazarus Stearn, of Dubuque, Ia., who has been an inmate of the institution for five months, was left in room 101. He was helpless and on his limbs were his braces, which he could not move. He could not get off his bed for fear of rolling down under the bed of his roommate which was right next to his own. He lay there calling for help.

The fire burned through the partition at the foot of his bed and a portion of the burning boards fell on him. He lost consciusness. He was removed by the police and firemen, but when taken to the restaurant it was found that his feet were dreadfully burned—so badly injured that the flesh burst asunder exposing the muscles.

An ambulance was sumoned and he was removed to St. Vincent's hospital, where, after examination, his condition was pronounced very critical.

Nineteen Dead.

At noon to-day 19 dead bodies had been recovered, all of which are identified and a number more are reported missing.

Mrs. Copeland, one of the rescued attendants said that an hour before the alarm of fire was turned in, the night watchman came to her room and asked her of she was burning paper. She told him she was not, and in a few minutes he again asked her. This proves that the fire had been smoldering some time.

FIGHTING FOR A MINE.

A Very Complicated Case in Mexico.

Rival Claimants All Get Into Jail—Secretary Blaine Asked to Take a Hand.

City of Mexico, Jan. 22.—Two rival claimants to a mine which is supposed to be the fabled Potosi, with its hidden treasure, are confined in Belen prison. Both of the claimants are presidents of mining companies—one in possession and the other fighting for it.

Their names are Daniel M. Burns, of California, the political boss, and Col. George Green, of the Mexican army.

This was all caused by the appearance of another claimant, Mark Birmingham, also of California. These three are disputants in regard to the ownership of the productive silver mines of Candelaria, near San Dimos, state of Sinaloa. Mr. Burns is in possession of the property and has been working the mines regularly with good results.

Green was incarcerated on a charge preferred by Birmingham for defamation of character, while Burns was arrested by the secret service police some time later. Birmingham says the charge against Burns was fraudulent conduct of the Candelaria mines while he was superintendent.

Burns after his arrest sent many telegrams to friends in the United States, one of which went to Secretary Blaine, explaining his awkward predicament. Birmingham states that he has filed a suit against Burns for several million dollars, or the amount the Candelaria mines had yielded for the time that it had been under the latter's administration.

INTERESTING INSURANCE CASE.

Columbus, O., Jan. 22.—A suit from the circuit court of Cuyahoga county has reached the supreme court. The style of the case is the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, plaintiff in error, against Joanna L. Wood. The case involves the validity of a good many policies in Cleveland. Mrs. Wood, of No. 8 Euclid avenue, insured her son for $300 on October 28, 1887, at a premium of 15 cents a week. The policy was not made out until January, 1888, and in the meantime the son died. Mrs. Wood secured a judgment, but the company claims the policy did not take effect until three months after date.

FOSTORIA MARRIAGE.

Fostoria, O., Jan. 22.—(Special)—The marriage of Frank Kelley and Miss Cora Ballmer, two prominent young people, was celebrated at the bride's home in a pretty manner on Wednesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Kelley left for Detroit and Lansing for a trip of a couple of weeks.

DEATH FROM GRIP.

Tiffin, O., Jan. 22.—Mrs. Squire Ritz died yesterday of grip.

CREATING NEW OFFICES.

Not Enough to Please All Republicans.

An Examiner of Railroad Telegraphers.

Interesting Proceedings of the Ohio Legislature as Wired to the Readers of the Bee.

Columbus, Jan. 22.—(Special)—Representative Willis yesterday afternoon introduced a bill for the appointment of a state examiner of railroad telegraphers, and requiring all railroad telegraphers to hold a certificate from the state examiner, also prescribing the duties of said examiner and providing for penalties for the violation of this act.

It provides that the governor shall appoint and the senate confirm an examiner of railroad telegraphers. The term of office is to be two years from first day of April, 1892. No person is eligible to this office who is an officer of any railroad company, or who may own or is interested in the stock or bonds of a railroad company. The person so appointed must have had not less than five years' experience as a telegrapher, not less than two years of which shall have been immediately preceding his appointment, and the salary is to be $1,200 per annum.

He is required to give a bond of $3,000 to the satisfaction of the governor with two sureties.

This officer is required to hold weekly examinations for all applicants for certificates, and all successful must pass an examination after paying a fee of $3, and the certificate is good for five years, when the following qualifications have been complied with:

1. He shall not be less than 21 years of age.

2. He shall be free from the habitual use of intoxicating beverages; he shall be able to read not less than 25 words per minute from a telegraph instrument and copy the same, while reading, in a plain, legible handwriting, and report back plainly and distinctly, not less than 25 words per minute.

3. He shall be able to perform and have a thorough knowledge of all the duties of a railroad telegrapher, regarding the movements of trains as set forth in any book of notes for railroad telegraphers, that the examiner may adopt as the standard during his term of office. This official must report to the governor annually in April of each year. If any railroad company has in its employ a telegrapher without a certificate from state examiner, it will have to pay a sum not less than $500 nor more than $1,000. The person employing such a telegrapher for a railroad company may be imprisoned in the penitentiary for not less than one year nor more than three years with a fine from $50 to $100.

To Investigate B. P. W. and Canal Commission.

Mr. Gear offered a resolution in the senate which went over under the rules: It provides for the appointment of a committee of three to investigate all the action of the Board of Public Works and Canal Commission in leasing public lands for gas and oil purposes. They are to report the number of leases, acres of each lease, their location and consideration for each, and are to inquire into all acts affecting the interests of the state in said premises. They have authority to summon witnesses and require the production of papers pertaining to the transactions of the board and commission.

Elections.

Senator Stewart yesterday afternoon introduced a bill to amend the present election laws by limiting the number of voters in any precinct to five hundred. Election boards may divide precincts on petition of a majority of voters.

Senator McConica offered for adoption a resolution authorizing the secretary of the senate to furnish the law school of the Ohio State University with copies of the laws of Ohio and the revised statutes, yesterday afternoon and the same was referred to the senate finance committee.

Representative Carney, of Hancock, and Taylor, of Guernsey, held consultation with the governor for the purpose of pushing claims of G. D. Gossman, who was chief clerk in the labor commissioner's office, for the office of commissioner of labor.

Shut Out from the Feast.

Republicans in Franklin county are fighting mad and it is expected the present administration will meet with much opposition from them on account of a law passed last winter prohibiting the election or appointment of stewards, managers or trustees of state institutions from this county.

The attorney-general has decided to that effect on the request of opinion from the governor.

President Harris presented a communication from the Lincoln league on the subject, and the same was referred to the finance committee, of which Jerry Carpenter is chairman. He is a staunch supporter of the bill and it will die in the hands of this gentleman.

Gov. McKinley said to the Bee that it was one of the best laws ever enacted pertaining to state institutions. With the governor and the legislature against the republicans of this county the law will not be repealed, so the hustlers will have to look for jobs in other counties.

Senator McMakin has offered resolution for the appointment of a committee of three to prepare a bill of a general nature providing that municipal authorities may transfer funds and do other minor acts without calling on the legislature for authority. It was referred to judiciary committee.

A PRINCE IN JAIL.

London, Jan. 22.—The suit of Madame Rosalie Bonaparte against Prince Louis Clovis Bonaparte, in which the latter is charged with misappropriating $100,000 worth of jewelry belonging to the plaintiff, came up again to-day, but owing to the fact that the prince is prostrated with influenza, the hearing was adjourned until February 2. The prisoner is still in custody, being unable to find $100,000 bail.

INSANE WOMAN'S DEED.

She Beats Out the Brains of Her Children.

While Smeared With the Blood of Her Offsprings She Cuts Her Own Throat and Dies by Their Side.

London, Jan. 22.—A dreadful tragedy occurred at Nottingham to-day. Mrs. Margaret Castings, who was engaged in the millinery business, has been overwhelmed with domestic troubles and became demented.

This morning she took her two children one after the other, in her arms, kissed them tenderly and then with a hammer beat in their skulls, killing them both.

The wretched mother, spattered with the brains of her children, afterwards cut her throat with a razor and expired by their side.

JUSTICE BRADLEY DEAD.

The Supreme Court of the United States

Loses Another of Its Members by Death.

Dissolution Occurred at a Few Minutes Past Six This Morning and the Cause is Given as General Debility.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Joseph P. Bradley, associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, died at 6:15 this morning at his residence, of general debility. Justice Bradley was in the 79th year of his age.

Justice Bradley was born in New York in 1813, and graduated at Rutger's college. He practiced law in New Jersey and was appointed to the supreme bench in 1870 by Gen. Grant. The justice has been ailing for many months and his death this morning was not unexpected.

The funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at his late residence in this city and the body will be taken Sunday night to Newark for interment. The justices of the supreme court will go to Newark by special train Monday to attend the funeral.

In the Supreme Court.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The supreme court room was draped in black at the hour of opening to-day. Chief Justice Fuller at noon called the court to order and in sad tones announced the death of Justice Bradley, and stated that the court would adjourn until Tuesday, when motions would come up which are noticed for Monday. The crier at once adjourned the court.

Justice Bradley had been ill for several months from general breaking down. On Monday he grew worse and has since failed rapidly, although apparently not suffering any pain. Though conscious when aroused he was so feeble that he talked but little and took no notice of those about him. He was devotedly attended by his aged wife, two daughters and a son.

A SALARY GRAB.

Griffin Thinks Legislators Are Underpaid.

He Would Increase Their Wages to One Thousand Dollars a Year.

Columbus, Jan. 22.—(Special)—Mr. Griffin has introduced a bill to allow a garnisheed person to demand his witness fee in advance, the same as other witnesses.

Mr. Griffin also introduced a bill to make the salary of members of the legislature $1,000 per annum.

Speaker Laylin has appointed Messrs. Heinlein, Fisher, of Preble; Griffin, Reiter and Olmstead as members of a committee to arrange the judicial districts.

THE CHOICE OF CHICAGO

Is Causing Much Comment in Washington.

Some Say It Means Hill, Others Say Cleveland, Others That It Does Not Signify Anything in Particular.

Washington, Jan. 22.—(Special)—Now that the smoke of the battle of locating the convention has partially passed away, the wiseacres of politics are beginning to see the reason for and causes of locating the convention at Chicago.

All through the fight the other cities looked upon Chicago with distrust despite the fact that it was continually saying it did not want the meeting.

Last night, therefore, when the announcement was made that Chicago needed but one vote to secure the prize, there was no surprise, but a heap of anger.

Opinion is divided on the significance of the choice, some declaring that it means Cleveland and still others that the selection of the city had nothing to do with candidates, and only went to Chicago after the committeemen had failed to agree on any other city.

PAID FOR THEIR CRIME.

A Man and Woman Executed To-Day.

She Entered Into a Conspiracy With a Man to Kill Her Husband—The Hanging Private.

Danville, Va., Jan. 22.—James Lyles and Margaret J. Lashey, colored, were hanged here at 11:32 a. m. to-day for the murder of George Lashley, husband of the woman, Lyles committing the deed while Margaret figured as an accomplice.

The murder occurred October 26, 1890. The woman enticed her husband out of doors knowing that her lover, Lyles, was waiting concealed to shoot Lashley. The execution was private, witnessed by only about 20 people.

NEW CASES FILED.

Litigation Keeps Up at the Regular Pace in Common Pleas Court.

New litigation was instituted in common pleas court to-day as follows:

Martha Little against Francis Little divorce and custody of child.

Merchants' and Manufacturers' National bank of Detroit against the city of Toledo and Samuel A. Hunter, treasurer, suit to enjoin the collection of sewer assessment on lots in Cottage Grove addition.

HUNTING FOR DRAKE.

An Infuriated Crowd Would Like to Interview Him.

Wichita, Ks., Jan. 22.—Wesley Drake, a Sunday school superintendent and teacher in the city schools, has disappeared from Yukon, Oklahoma.

He is charged with the betrayal, under promise of marriage, of Miss Mary Weller, aged 16 years, the daughter of prominent parents.

The relatives of the girl have organized a posse and are searching with shotguns for Drake. If caught by any of the towns people he will not be taken back alive.

GARZA'S LIEUTENANT.

Palito Blanco, Tex., Jan. 22.—Frank Garza, a relative of the revolutionist Catarina Garza, has been captured in a house about nine miles west of camp. The prisoner, who has been the right-hand man of the leader, said Garza's forces consited of 400 men, divided into three bands; that the money the leader was supposed to control was mythical, and that the men, while still enthusiastic, were only half fed and wholly unpaid.

LA GRIPPE EPIDEMIC.

The Results Which Follow In Its Wake and Measures Necessary For Relief.

La Grippe Thirteen Centuries Old—Said to Have Originated in Siberia—Additional Evidence Substantiating Dr. Copeland and Associates' Claims

"The epidemic of 'La Grippe' which seems to be sweeping over the country, and which has recently been given column after column in the newspapers," said Dr. W. H. Copeland to the writer, "is by no means a new disease. History tells us that it has been known in Europe since the Fifth century, and invariably sweeps over the country from east to west. The disease is beyond question infectious and spreads by atmospheric influences. Many examples are to be found in the current medical literature which could be cited to prove the assumption.

"This disease is sometimes called Russian influenza, because it is supposed to have had its origin in Siberia. It usually occurs as an epidemic and travels rapidly over the globe. It has received many names, the most common being influenza and la grippe. The Italians in the seventeenth century, called it influenza, supposing it owed its origin to some occult influence of the stars. La Grippe is said by some to come from the Polish 'crpka,' meaning 'hoarse'; others recognize it in the French word 'Gripper,' which means 'to seize.' The Germans call it 'blitz katarrh.'

"There is one bad result from it, however, and that is, the numerous cases of chronic catarrh and bronchitis that will remain as a reminder of la grippe's baleful influence. The press has made so light of the danger, that the people as a rule, think there is none. They stay in the house for a day or two and then go about their business as usual in spite of the sneezing and coughing. They do not realize what this sneezing and coughing may lead to. A chronic catarrh, a chronic bronchitis, possibly a pneumonia, followed by consumption, may result from their thoughtlessness. The effects of such an epidemic as we are passing through, last for weeks and months and cost the people thousands of dollars, not only in loss of health, but in actual money paid out to rid themselves of ills consequent upon their carelessness, and which a few more days' stay in the house would have saved them.

"Catarrh is a little thing at first, but may eventuate in terrible suffering. We all know what a cold in the head is, and when we catch one we look forward to the usual nine days of coughing and sneezing and blowing our noses. But now imagine that cold constant, continually with us, growing worse steadily and with no hope that in nine days we shall be rid of it, but knowing that it will be our constant and faithful companion for life if we do not get it cured—THAT IS CATARRH. We physicians have instances of it daily, and although we are forever warning our patients to use a little care and not catch cold, how many are there who pay attention to our words?

A Local Instance.

To give you an illustration of what I have just said, I have here the case of Charles J. Sandberg, who lives at the corner of Collingwood and Lafayette street. Mr. Sandberg says:

"I suffered from a catarrhal condition for a number of years. Of late years it has been much worse, and I began to fear I never would get rid of it. I had severe headaches nearly all the time. At times I would have a bad cough; I was constantly raising mucus; my head would stop up, and hard lumps formed in the nostrils; my ears became affected.

Charles J. Sandberg, Corner Collingwood Avenue and Lafayette Street.

I had a constant roaring and buzzing sound that impaired my hearing; the sense of smell was nearly gone and my breath was offensive. My tonsils became so enlarged as to change my voice and make speaking difficult. I had pains in my chest—sharp, shooting pains that would extend to my back. I had night sweats and my appetite was poor; I suffered considerably from constipation, and in fact, my whole system was run down.

"Some time ago I began treatment with Dr. Copeland and associates, whose offices are at 706 Madison street. They have done for me more than any other doctors or all the patent medicines and remedies that I have taken. I have increased in weight several pounds. I can sleep well. In fact, I feel better to-day than I have for many years.

They Have Cured Me.

And I cheerfully recommend them to those suffering as I did. Dr. Copeland and associates are gentlemen; physicians of ability; and are doing a great amount of good to suffering humanity in this city."

SWAMP LANDS.

Mr. Dewitt Introduces a Bill to Dispose of Them.

Columbus, Jan. 22.—(Special)—Mr. Dewitt introduced a bill this morning to provide for the sale of swamp lands within the state of Ohio.

It provides that where swamp and overflowed lands have been covered with water for 35 years it shall be the duty of the county commissioners to appraise such lands and return the appraisement to the county auditor, who shall forthwith advertise the same for sale in two papers of opposite politics.

On the day of sale the county commissioners shall sell to the highest and best bidders but the lands must not be sold for less than three-fourths of the appraised value, nor in tracts to exceed eighty acres, to be paid for within four years from the day of sale, and all moneys are to be certified into the county treasury.

If any lands are unsold the auditor shall again advertise the same for sale.

After the lands have been paid for the governor will give a deed on presentation of a certificate from the county auditor that all provisions of the purchase have been complied with.

All moneys received by county treasurers shall go to the county for the expenditure of drainage and reclaiming and improving said swamp lands.

THEY REFUSE TO RESIGN.

Massillon, O., Jan. 22.—Several days ago Postmaster Clement Russell, republican, requested the resignation of four mail carriers, democrats, to take effect February 1. Three members of the force have placed themselves under the protecting wing of the postal laws, claiming they cannot be removed except for cause, and to test the question to-day sent the postmaster a letter declining to comply with his request.

FOUND INDICTMENTS.

Wapakoneta, Jan. 22.—(Special)—Late last night the jury rendered a verdict of guilty as carged in the indictment against Abraham Heed and Henry Shumacker, charging them with burglarizing the Minster bank on the night of December 11.

There were about sixty witnesses from Dayton here testified in the case

TOM O'BRIEN TO SAIL.

London, Jan. 22.—Tom O'Brien, the bunco steerer, extradited for swindling Mr. Peck, of Albany, was taken from the Holloway jail to-day and removed to Liverpool, where he will remain at police headquarters until to-morrow, when he will be taken aboard the Arizona for New York. He was handcuffed and precautions were taken against any attempt on his part to escape, as he is considered dangerous.

ANARCHIST CASES.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The adjournment of the U. S. supreme court on account of the death of Justice Bradley caused the postponement of the concluding argument in behalf of the Chicago anarchists, Fielden and Schwab, by Gen. B. F. Butler.

Gen. Butler has an hour and a half in which to speak.

NEW TRIAL REFUSED.

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 22.—The court to-day refused a new trial for the prisoners convicted of burning the Deport Powder company's barn and sentenced them to terms ranging from three to eight years' imprisonment. They are Edward, Mary and Joseph Clarke, and William Gibbons.

LIVES CRUSHED OUT.

Fatal Accident in Baltimore This Morning.

A Massive Chimney Falls on Workmen Engaged in Razing a Building.

Baltimore, Jan. 22.—This morning at 9 o'clock a sad accident occurred here in which one workman was instantly killed and three others seriously, one perhaps fatally, injured.

The men were engaged in tearing down an old building on Eutaw street, near Lombard, in order to make way for a new one that is to be used as power house for the Baltimore City Passenger railway.

While thus engaged an immense brick chimney fell with a crash, burying beneath it the unfortunate men.

Workmen were on the scene in short order, busily engaged in rescuing them from beneath the mass of bricks and rubbish. When they finally succeeded in bringing the entombed men out it was found that George W. Myers had been instantly killed. The others who are injured are:

Edward Noonan, thigh broken and leg badly crushed.

George Fowler, head crushed.

George Lee (colored), badly bruised about the body and injured internally.

Fowler was so badly injured that it is feared he will die. The men were taken to the hospital as quickly as possible, where their wounds were dressed.

THE DEMOCRATIC CALL.

Chairman Brice Issued the Document This Afternoon.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Chairman Brice to-day issued the following call for the democratic national convention:

The national democratic committee at a meeting held this day, in the city of Washington, D. C., has appointed Tuesday, the 21st day of June, 1892, as the time, and chosen the city of Chicago as the place for holding the national democratic convention.

Each state is entitled to a representation therein equal to double the number of the representation to which it is entitled in the next electoral college, and each territory and the District of Columbia shall have two delegates.

All democratic conservative citizens of the United States, irrespective of past political associations and differences, who can unite with us in the efforts for perfect economical and constitutional government, are cordially invited to join us in sending delegates to the convention.

CALVIN S. BRICE, Chairman.
SIMON P. SHERIN, Secretary.

THE NEW YORK LIFE.

New York's Department of Insurance Makes Its Report.

Albany, Jan. 22.—The report of the state insurance department in regard to the charges brought by Mr. Banta, late cashier of the New York Life Insurance company, against that company, was published to-day, and states that the company has a surplus of $6,033,136 accrued upon its general account, and $8,670,539 upon its tontine accumulation and is amply solvent.

Some of its real estate investments have been injudicious and resulted in loss. The Spanish American agency was not well managed, but there was no actual defalcation. Mr. Banta's other charges were not proven. The officers admit that blackmail was paid to a journalist to suppress publication of attacks upon the company. The report makes no suggestions to remedy the defects discovered in the company's affairs.

SYMPATHY FOR THE JEWS.

Glasgow, Jan. 22.—An influential meeting held here last night adopted resolutions of sympathy with the Russian Jews and decided to raise a fund for their relief.

Donald MacLeod, the queen's chaplain, in an address, expressed the hope that the whole world would rise against that government which persecuted its own subjects.

GREAT ALTERATION AND ENLARGEMENT SALE

OF

Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing at 25 to 50 Per Cent. Reduction!

The Model Clothing House is to be enlarged on account of the increase of business by adding another store, which will make a frontage of 60 feet on Summit street. When completed, will be the largest and most complete clothing house in the city.

On account of this change we have decided to give our patrons a benefit for their liberal patronage in the past by inaugurating a GRAND ALTERATION AND ENLARGEMENT SALE at a LIBERAL REDUCTION REGARDLESS OF COST.

We have no fire-smoked or water-soaked or damaged goods to offer at 1-3 off or 1-2 off at marked-up prices, but a BONA FIDE REDUCTION from our present low prices of from 25 to 50 per cent., which means lower prices than have ever been offered by any other clothing house in the city.

Our reputation for BEST QUALITY, BEST FITTING, BEST MAKES and LOWEST PRICES is undisputed and needs no comment. Remember we are the Model Clothing House, corner Summit and Jefferson streets, and are NOT CONNECTED with any other clothing house in the city. No goods sold on credit during this sale. We invite inspection, and remember the old adage, "The Early Bird Gets the Worm."

THE MODEL CLOTHING HOUSE,

NELLIS & HATTENBACH, Prop'rs,

201, 203 and 205 Summit Street, Cor. Jefferson.

CURRENT TOPICS.

A correspondent, who asks about the act of 1853, which "demonetized" nearly the whole of the silver coined up to date, is informed by the Baltimore Sun that at the time of the passage of that act our full-weight silver coins were being exported, being more valuable, at the legal ratio, than gold. An ounce of French gold brought to the United States would buy nearly 16 ounces of silver, and 15 1-2 ounces of silver taken to France would buy another ounce of gold, and so on. The profit of exporting our silver coin was about 3 per cent., so that good fractional silver coin of the United States was likely to become very scarce. The law of 1853 was directed to preventing this exportation, and it did so by exacting a seigniorage on silver coins and by stopping the free coinage of fractional silver coins and depriving them of the legal-tender quality in sums exceeding $5. Gold dollars and silver dollars were made the only legal tender in unlimited amounts. The importance of this act as a demonetizing measure lies in the fact that it affected coins constituting nearly the whole silver coinage up to 1853. There had been coined up to that time $2,525,000 in silver dollars and $76,687,371 of fractional silver, at full legal tender, except the three-cent pieces. The act in question, by stopping the free coinage of fractional silver coins and depriving the large amount in existence of the legal-tender quality, "struck down," as the saying is, nearly all the silver then in use. The purpose, of course, was to keep good silver change from being sent out of the country. The whole amount of silver dollars coined up to 1873 was $8,045,838. The act of 1873 stopped the coinage of silver dollars, and the act of 1878 renewed it.

One of the most interesting developments in the application of electricity, which has, perhaps, the widest promise of general domestic utility and benefit of all the multiplicity of applications of electric energy, is that of electric heating. Electricians are talking of wonderful things in that line as possibilities of the near future. They assert confidently that before long houses, offices, and stores, street cars and railroad cars will be heated as well as lighted by electricity. Not only that, but all cooking may be done by the same agency, and the heat, dust, grime, and smoke of the cook stove and the heating furnace will be nightmares of memory. The coal cellar is to be abolished, and the heat to warm the house and prepare the meals is to be brought in on a wire and distributed to do any service at any time in response to the pressure of a button or the turning of a switch. It is asserted that the electric heater is so nearly developed on a thoroughly practical basis that it can be available at a slight increase in cost over present methods, an increase which the electricians say should be more than made up for in the superiority in cleanliness and convenience. In the broiling and wilting July days of the near future the housewife in her cool kitchen may press a button and have the strongest, hottest fire she needs at a moment's notice. The cooking done, a touch on another button will set the same power that has cooked the dinner to work on the electric fans. On cold winter mornings the fire may be started by a touch on a button beside the pillow and the domestic infelicities caused by discussions as to whose duty it is to get up and start the fire will be avoided.

The construction of an immense microscope at Munich is announced, intended for projecting images upon a screen, and electricity is used not only for producing the necessary light, but for regulating the focus centering the specimen to be examined, and cooling the apparatus. The heating of the instrument by the artificial light—which in this case is an arc of 11,000 candle power—sets up disturbing currents of air, deranges the focus by expansion, and affects the objects unfavorably. A small copper cylinder, filled with liquid carbonic acid, under a pressure of about 350 pounds to the square inch, is connected with the microscope in such a way that the opening of a valve throws down a drop of the acid in fine spray over the portions of the instrument most exposed to the heats; the liquid immediately evaporates producing intense cold, and reducing the metal with which it is in contact to the desired temperature. The magnifying power of the instrument can scarcely be imagined; that is, the arrangement, as stated, is for magnifying to the enormous extent of some 11,000 diameters, but by a simple immersion of the lenses in vaseline oil, more powerful objectives can be used, with the capacity to magnify 16,000 diameters.

Those who have been congratulating the French upon the fact that the Count of Paris had decided to resign all pretensions to the throne of France must get cold comfort from a recent letter which that noble has written regarding the death of Mgr. Freppel. In this he says, "He had faith in the future of our cause, because he had confidence in the principles which it will enable to prevail—and I have the right to say it—in the person of its chief. I have received evidence of this faith and this confidence, and it has always sustained and encouraged me in the accomplishment of my task. Mgr. Freppel knew that Christian France needed a national monarchy. Thank God, his tradition and teachings will not be lost, and his vigorous eloquence will yet bear fruit." The role of Pretender has its drawbacks, but it is an affliction which few voluntarily resign.

The dynamite cruiser Vesuvius was built by the Cramps, and, though the first vessel of her kind constructed in this country, she stands, like the Cushing, near the head of her class. She is steel plated, has twin screws, vertical triple expansion engines, is 246 feet long, and has a displacement of 725 tons. Her speed exceeds 21 knots an hour. Three 15-inch dynamite guns and three rapid-firing three-pounders compose her battery. The dynamite guns throw shells weighing 900 pounds and containing 500 pounds of dynamite a distance of a mile; they are capable of being discharged once in two minutes. The range can be varied from one mile to 200 yards by varying the amount of air entering from the firing reservoir. The guns are not movable in the ship, but are fixed at an incline so that for training the vessel must be turned, but as she has twin screws this is readily accomplished. The guns are placed side by side in the forward part of the vessel. They are made in single sections with flange connections, their length in all being about 54 feet. The shells are fired by fuses so arranged that the charge cannot explode until after the shell strikes or sinks below the surface of the water. The shells are projected by means of compressed air. There is a main reservoir down near the keel, and a firing reservoir near the breech of the guns, from which air is let into the guns in the rear of the projectile. The pressure in the main reservoir is about 2,600 pounds.

The tallest chimney in Massachusetts, as well as in the United States, is that of the new cotton mill of the Fall River Iron Works company, Fall River, Mass. That chimney is 350 feet high, 30 feet square at the base, 21 feet drain at top, diameter at base of circle, 30 feet; foundation, 50x50 feet and 18 feet deep; diameter of flue, 11 feet; 350 barrels of Portland cement used in the foundation; 1,000 barrels of common cement in the chimney; 1,000 barrels of lime; 1,300,000 bricks.

SOME SPICY CURRENT TOPICS

Of Local and Neighborhood Interest.

Notes and Comments on Incidents Occurring Daily—Prepared for Readers Who are Hustled for Time.

A SMALL BLAZE.

About 10:30 o'clock last night fire broke out in the pile of rubbish at Consolidated car barns, at the corner of Cherry and Bancroft streets. No water could be obtained on the premises but sufficient was carried from a point near by to extinguish the flames before the department arrived.

FELL OFF A TRAIN.

McGlynn's ambulance was called to the Union depot this morning to convey D. Rice to his home at 237 South St. Clair street.

Mr. Rice fell off the C., H. & D. train at Perrysburg and sustained serious injuries.

SECOND LECTURE TO-NIGHT.

The second lecture in the University Extension course occurs this evening. Professor Adams, of Ann Arbor, will continue the subject of political economy from a practical standpoint. Mr. Adams is a fluent as well as able speaker, and gives his all-important topics an entertaining as well as instructive analysis. It is gratifying to notice so many of the busy workers of the city, men and women, taking hold of the study in deep earnest.

ADDRESSES FOR BUSINESS MEN.

The Rev. Lindsay Parker, of St. Peter's church, Brooklyn, has just completed a ten-days' mission at St. Barnabas church, Philadelphia. The Rev. Oscar Michael, formerly assistant at Trinity, this city, reports that over three hundred men attended his mid-day addresses to business men. Mr. Parker will visit Toledo January 28 and 29, and at noon each day will give a 25-minutes address to business men.

TEMPORARY ORGANIZATION.

Last evening a meeting was held at Druid hall and a temporary organization of a central branch of the Catholic Knights of Ohio was formed. Peter J. Mettler was appointed temporary chairman and Edward Doyle secretary. It was decided that any member of the Catholic Knights of America could become a member of the C. K. of O. upon the payment of $1. Others will pay $5. Dr. Oscar Hasencamp was appointed medical examiner. The charter membership roll was signed by 16 persons. Another meeting will be held next Thursday evening.

ADAMS ST. MISSION CHRISTMAS.

The twenty-first annual Christmas gift entertainment of the Adams Street Mission will be held to-day and many poor children will be made happy. A big Christmas tree has been provided, and there will be entertainment for the children, of a varied character.

Plenty of gifts are provided for the several hundred children who attend the Mission, and it will be a day of rejoicing for them. These gifts are donated to the Mission by generous citizens and merchants and they include everything likely to give pleasure or be useful to the poor waifs.

ANOTHER BOAT.

Word was received from Detroit this morning that the Grummund line has come into possession of the propeller De-Pere, and she will be run in connection with the Flora and Atlantic. The steamer is especially adapted to shore business—elegant cabins, large freight capacity and light draft—which will enable her to make all shore landings, both going and returning, without trouble. The boat, together with the Flora and Atlantic, will form a tri-weekly line from Cleveland, Toledo and Detroit for Mackinaw and intermediate ports. Time schedules will be furnished later.

THE HOUSE FINANCIERS.

The members of the house finance committee came up from Columbus last evening, and are to-day examining as to the needs of the Toledo asylum for insane. The committee is composed of the following representatives: Taylor, of Champaign; Willis, of Delaware; McCoy, of Columbiana; Boxwell, of Warren; Kissinger, of Athens; Ely, of Fulton; Allaman, of Montgomery; Boesel, of Auglaize; Gaumer, of Richland. Of course Major-General Fred Blankner is along. Tonight the visitors will attend the weekly dance in the amusement hall, and go on their way to-morrow.

TO-NIGHT'S RECEPTION.

Charles Sumner lodge, No. 137, K. of P., will this evening install officers, and follow the exercises with a social reception and ball. Col. Austin, Jr., will have charge of the work. The reception committee is composed of Messrs. T. R. Cook, George Horner, C. B. Greene, J. W. Flowers, Wm. Oeschler, G. G. Grund, Archie Gassoway, Henry Egley, J. F. Newcomer, J. E. Gunckel, J. T. Gamble, and Loius Volk. The floor will be managed by Messrs. Ed. Austin, J. S. Keith, Karl Flickinger, James H. Barr, Chas. H. Hall, Jas. Robison, J., and H. W. Wilhelm.

READY FOR THE THAW.

"How about this snow when it thaws?" inquired a Bee of Street Commissioner Bower.

"I am all ready to take care of it," said the fat, jolly commissioner, "and have made every preparation to get rid of it as quick as possible, so that it will not form a sea of mud. The catch basins and traps throughout the city have been cleaned, and are now in good condition. When the thaw sets in I have a force of men ready to put at work cleaning the gutters and the melted snow will be run off. In several places where the snow has been piled up high in the streets we have hauled it away."

TO SHOE FINE HORSES.

An institution that will prove of valuable interest to owners of fine horses, is to be established in Toledo. Mr. George Ketcham, who owns a string of fine horses, has experienced considerable trouble in having his horses shod in a suitable manner.

Some time ago he procured the services of George Blessing, an expert in his line, and this morning workmen began excavating for a two-story brick building on St. Clair street, between Adams and Oak, and as soon as completed, a blacksmith shop for shoeing fine horses will be equipped with every convenience science and industry have invented. The business will be managed by Mr. Ketcham, and the shop by Mr. Blessing, who comes to Toledo from John Splan, of Cleveland, with years of experience in this line.

WILLIAMS COUNTY TEACHERS.

The second quarterly session of the Williams County Teachers' association will be held at West Unity, to-morrow, commencing at 9:30 o'clock. Following is the program:

Devotional exercises.

Welcome Address—Superintendent J. H. Diebel, West Unity.

Response—Superintendent Frank Smith, Pioneer, Ohio.

Can the Work of Our Country Schools be Graded?—Superintendent W. A. Saunders, Bryan.

Arithmetic—Prof. M. H. Davis, Toledo.

Government and Society—Superintendent A. L. Biglow, Archbold.

Examinations—Superintendent W. L. Fulton, Montpelier.

The Teacher—Miss Robinson, Bryan.

How Shall We Build True Manhood?—Prof. I. R. Skelley, Toledo.

JUDGE DOYLE LECTURES TO-NIGHT.

The members of the Junior department of the Y. M. C. A. are to be unusually privileged characters to-night, at least those of them who choose to attend the lecture to be delivered in Association hall, corner Summit and Orange streets, at 8 o'clock, by Hon. J. H. Doyle. His subject will be "Just the Boy Wanted for Law Practice." What better man can Toledo produce, in fact the whole state, to talk to boys on this theme. The boys will do a wise thing not to let this rare opportunity go by without embracing it, for the advice of one who has reached the topmost heights in his particular profession is worthy of attention and to be pondered well. The parents of the boys should also be on hand, as there will be advice for them no doubt, and a treat as well.

PYTHIAN BENEFICIAL ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of this organization was held at the office in the Pythian castle yesterday afternoon. An excellent report was made by Secretary Robinson, showing the association to be in a healthy condition, with a snug sum in the reserve fund. The past quarter has developed much sickness on account of the prevalence of the grip, but all claims will be satisfactorily settled. Officers were elected as follows: President, William Beatty, Toledo; vice president, Judge J. C. Suit, Frankfort, Ind.; secretary, J. G. Robinson, Toledo; assistant, Frank Robinson; treasurer and medical director, Dr. S. D. Smith, Piqua; general agent, W. J. Niblock, Toledo. Several plans for the betterment of the association were discussed and referred to the president and secretary to mature. Judge Suit left for his home last evening, and Dr. Smith returned this morning.

SHOCKING DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Two Young People End Their Earthly Existence.

True Love Did Not Run Smoothly and They Sought Consolation in Death.

Roanoke, Va., Jan. 22.—News has just reached here of a shocking double suicide in Franklin county.

John L. Pinkhard, son of a well-to-do farmer of Franklin county, was engaged to be married to Miss Delia Nicholson, an attractive young lady of the same county.

Miss Delia's parents objected to the marriage and guarded against every opportunity of elopement. The young lady procured a rope Wednesday morning and proceeded to the woods near her home and hanged herself to a tree.

A younger sister, who missed her from the house, went in search and discovered her before life was extinct, but not in time to save her.

Young Pinkhard, after hearing of his sweetheart's untimely death, proceeded at once to take a dose of arsenic, from which he soon died.

The bodies of both unfortunates were buried together yesterday.

DEAD IN THE SNOW.

An Inmate of the Soldiers' Home Frozen.

Dayton, O., Jan. 22.—The frozen corpse of Thomas McGown, a veteran of the Soldiers' home, and a member of the Fifteenth Kansas cavalry, was found under a clump of bushes a few feet from the home chapel.

McGown had been missing for a week, and though thousands of veterans pass and repass the spot daily the body might have lain there until spring were it not for an accidental discovery of the corpse by a soldier who chased a dog into the bushes.

The body was covered with snow, and it is supposed that McGown, while intoxicated, laid down under the bushes, when he died from exposure. The snow coming on shortly afterward formed his blanket and funeral shroud.

THE QUAY SUIT.

Pittsburg, Jan. 22.—After the opening of court this morning, Attorney Ferguson, representing the Post, addressed the jury. He was followed by Attorney Marshall, representing Senator Quay. The addresses occupied the entire morning session of the court.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon Judge Porter delivered his charge and the jury retired.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Current for Produce and Other Articles

Minneapolis, Jan. 22.—The Northwestern Miller says: The flour output last week decreased slightly from that of the week before. The production was 173,145 barrels, averaging 28,857 barrels, against 178,870 barrels the previous week, 115,600 barrels for the corresponding week in 1891 and 118,930 in 1890. There has been a material change in the operative situation on the falls since last week, and the output this week will be heavily reduced. Three mills of one large company, representing a daily product of over 4,500 barrels, have been shut down for the week at least, on account of poor markets.

Two others of large capacity are having a substantial slice taken off their output through the low water, making it impossible for them to run full capacity. The present output is probably not over 25,000 barrels daily, and it is doubtful if the average six days' work will reach that figure.

There has been rather an improved demand for flour during the week ending Wednesday, though the best of it has come within the last four days. Most milling firms report enough fresh sales to absorb the greater part of their production for the same time. The best business has come from domestic markets, there having been quite free buying of patents on options of the wheat market. A few parties report a moderate export trade, but the greater number complain that bids are so low that they cannot be accepted. Bakers' and low grades are still hard to move and are being more or less consigned. Prices at Minneapolis have shrunken some during the week, though higher wheat in the past two days has made millers more disposed to ask for an advance. Bakers' and low grades for export are offered at about 1s less than a week ago.

Direct exports of flour for the week were 82,380 bbls., against 78,800 bbls. the previous week.

The Wheat Situation by Beerbohm.

Beerbohm makes the available supply of wheat in the United States, afloat and in the principal European countries on January 1, 1892, 26,256,000 qrs., against 20,955,000 qrs. on January 1, 1891, and 22,300,000 qrs. on January 1, 1890, and says in comparing the present total of 26,256,000 qrs. with, say last year's figures of 20,955,000 qrs. (a difference of 5,300,000 qrs.) it must be borne in mind that the requirements of the European countries between now and the next harvest are far larger than they were last year, or indeed in any previous year. To take the United Kingdom and France alone the figures stand thus: United Kingdom—Requirements, 20,000,000 qrs.; imported in the four months net, 8,720,000 qrs.; balance, 11,280,000 qrs., against 12,600,000 qrs. last year. France—Season's requirements, 13,000,000 qrs.; imported since August 1, 7,000,000 qrs.; balance, 6,000,000 qrs., against 2,000,000 qrs. last year for the corresponding period. Thus these two countries still require 17,280,000 qrs., against 14,600,000 qrs. last year, a difference of 2,680,000 qrs., which, if added to the extra requirements of Belgium, Holland, and Germany, from now to the next harvest, would form a total not far short of 6,000,000 qrs. more required than last year. Leaving Russia out of the question,—for there will of course be nothing available from there.

The Markets.

The receipts of wheat at seven principal western points to-day are 240,688 bu, compared with 201,805 bu on the same day last year.

Duluth—The main line of the Northern Pacific road between the terminals at Duluth and Brainard, Minn., is to be entirely relaid with 65-pound steel rails at once. Many grades are to be cut down to allow heavier trains to be handled. This is the result of the tremendous grain traffic expected between the two Dakotas and Duluth when the season of naviagtion sets in. It is estimated at Duluth that 35,000,000 bu of wheat will be received at that city before next August.

A dispatch from West Superior, Wis., says: "Estimates obtained to-day from all firms engaged in logging in this disarict show that this winter's cut will be the largest ever made. The ten concerns having camps in sections between Iron river and the head of the lake on the south side will cut 175,000,000 feet of logs. This will exceed last year's cut by 80 per cent., and is probably fairly indicative of the cut in northern Wisconsin. The cost of operation is largely reduced, and the season will be vastly profitable if the present weather continues."

Receipts of wheat are light at seven principal western points to-day, 240,688 bu.

The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were wheat 240,743 bu and flour to an aggregate of 430,000 bu. The export of corn was 617,143 bu, and of oats 77,542 bu.

English markets as reported herein are dull and lower at opening for wheat and corn.

The Markets To-Day.

Opening wheat markets east and west were higher, and prices advanced. At one time May wheat was 1 1-8c up in New York. This course of the market has come to be quite the mode, recently, and after an interesting little dress parade of that sort prices weaken and break off to those of the previous day, or lower. To-day is not an exception to the rule of the past few days. So far as causes of these fluctuations are concerned outside of the supply and demand in the exchange pits, there does not seem to be any. A great deal of fictitious and improbable information is sent out every day, but it is hardly worth attention. It looks to us like a waiting market until stocks abroad are depleted somewhat.

The wheat markets lost all that had been gained, and a little more.

Corn markets have also been weak and close lower.

In New York January wheat closed steady, and May unchanged.

January corn 1-8 and May 7-8 lower.

January oats 3-8 lower.

In Chicago January wheat closed 1-8 and May 1-4 lower. January corn 5-8 and May 5-8 lower.

In Toledo business has been light, with but little desire manifested for trading in wheat futures on either side. Our market failed to respond fully to the New York advance, and closed 1-4c lower than yesterday for the May future. On the call May sold at 96 7-8c and July at 92 1-4c. After the call May sold at 96 3-4c to 97 1-2c and declined and closed at 96 1-2c. After 'Change 25,000 at 96 1-2c. Cash wheat was not much in demand. No. 2 soft in a small way sold at 92 1-4c early but at close the market was 91 1-2c, a loss of 1-4c. No. 3 soft at 89 1-2c. No. 1 white at 93c.

Corn—No. 2 at 40 1-2c; January at 40 1-2c to 40 1-4c; No. 3 at 39c; No. 4 at 38c; No. 2 yellow at 40 1-2c.

Rye was not dealt in. No. 2 about 85c.

Clover seed was more active and dearer. On the call January sold at $4 70 and March at $5 75. After the call prime for cash at $5 70, January at $5 70, March at $5 75, No. 2 at $5 55.

Beerbohm's Statement.

We call attention: to the statement of Beerbohm, herein, of the requirements of importing markets before another harvest. He makes the requirements 200,000,000 bu and of that quantity America and Canada are depended upon to furnish 144,000,000 bu in this last half of the cereal year, an average of 5,540,000 bu per week. It will hump America to do it, Mr. Beerbohm.

A Board of Regulators.

The Minneapolis Record says, "Washburn, Hatch, Kyle, Alexander and a score or more of senators and representatives are introducing option bills and future bills and petitions relating to them in congress. That the question belongs to the list with greenback, sub-treasury and government advances on baled hay."

There is a burning desire in the breast of new, and some old members of congress, to immortalize themselves by passing schemes to catch the votes of the farmers with an ignorance of consequences that must be bliss indeed to them. We hope the other side of these questions will be presented faithfully, and, if it is, they will be defeated. There is no question about that.

Markets by Telegraph.

TRYING TO SETTLE,

But a Conclusion Has Not Yet Been Arrived At

In the Ohio Yacht Club Muddle—The Result of the Conference Between the Contending Parties.

The committee appointed to endeavor to bring about an amicable adjustment of pending difficulties in the Ohio Yacht club met Mr. Ketcham again yesterday afternoon, as that gentleman had signified a desire to consult with his attorney before taking any definite action in the matter.

The committee stated that the O. Y. C. was anxious to settle the existing troubles peacefully and pleasantly, and that it was not the desire of the club to get into any litigation if it could possibly be avoided. A majority of the club were friends of Mr. Ketcham, who earnestly hoped that all discussion would be dropped and harmony and good feeling prevail for the good of the club and its members in the present and future.

As to the O. Y. C.'s financial obligations to Mr. Ketcham, he was assured that the amount would be forthcoming on any date he would fix.

Mr. Ketcham replied that the Ohio Yacht club was not a desirable tenant, and he didn't care to continue any business relations with the club. He said he had not been treated right by certain members of the club, that the club was over five months behind in the rent, payment of which had never been tendered.

As this seemed an essential step towards a settlement, one of the club reached in his pocket, counted out $250 and laid the same on the desk in front of Mr. Ketcham. He said he didn't want the money.

Mr. Ketcham said further that the club had not been managed properly financially. He claimed that the club last year paid over $3,500 debts, and that there was no excuse for the present indebtedness hanging so long, and the rent being so far behind, had the helm been in proper hands.

The committee called attention to the fact that during the past year the January and July dues had fallen due, and most of them paid, and that during the present year, the debts would no doubt be wiped out entirely. The present officials had but recently assumed their duties and had not yet had an opportunity to begin to cut down the indebtedness of the club, because the first dues of their term of office had been due but a short time, and the collection just begun. The officials could do nothing as long as there was a fight within the ranks. They wanted a peaceful and quiet adjustment of the matter.

Mr. Ketcham then replied that it was time to talk of an amicable settlement after the debts had been paid.

Another of the committee, promptly requested an exact statement of the Ohio Yacht club's indebtedness to Mr. Ketcham, stating that he would tender his personal check at once for the full amount.

This Mr. Ketcham refused to do, and the committee left and reported that all efforts to accomplish a peaceable settlement were absolutely fruitless. A special meeting of the board of directors was held at the club rooms this morning, which Mr. Ketcham and Commodore Bills attended.

A conclusion was not reached at the meeting of the directors this morning, and the difficulties still remain unsettled.

WORKING FOR HOPE.

He Got Into Trouble and Now Greatly Regrets It.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 22.—Albert Hope, the young poet, playwright and actor, in whom Mrs. Frank Leslie Wilde takes much interest, and who is under sentence for obtaining $250 from the First National bank of this city, on a worthless check drawn on the Broadway National bank, of New York, withdrew his appeal to the supreme court yesterday.

His object was to leave the governor free to pardon, as extraordinary efforts are being put forth in that direction by influential men.

LEAPED TO HIS DEATH.

A Cotton Broker Commits Suicide in Liverpool.

London, Jan. 22.—A dispatch received here this morning from Liverpool says that Wm. Jones, a cotton broker, well known on the cotton exchange as well as in business circles there, committed suicide early this morning by jumping from an upper window of his residence on Oldhall street.

His neck and both legs were broken, and besides serious internal injuries were inflicted by the fall. He died almost immediately. His friends here and in Liverpool are at a loss to account for the suicide of Mr. Jones, as he was regarded in business as well as in social circles as a good natured and prosperous man.

His domestic relations are said to have been of the happiest kind. It is thought, though, that he had recently suffered from an attack of melancholia, and that while in a depressed state of mind he took the leap to death.

"The tariff has nothing to do with bringing down the price of wool" shouts the organs. But if wool had gone up in price, it would have been attributed to the beneficent influence of the tariff.

We have got an empty treasury to go to war on, if war it must be. If only, now, the majority in the Billion Dollar congress had said, "To Chile with the surplus," instead of—what they did say.

"Holman's retrenchment resolution is merely a cheap bid for notoriety.—New York Tribune.

Better so than to subject the country to the extremely dear bids for notoriety that the Fifty-first congress encouraged, always with the indorsement of the Tribune

The gaming trip our ex-president is now enjoying in the south is attracting a good deal of attention. An exchange says, "When Cleveland guns, something always drops." It may be added that when he carries a gun it is usually loaded for "bar," and not for smaller game.

This weeks's issue of the enterprising Wauseon Expositor has the following paragraph, which, though brief, expresses a great deal of solid truth:

"The Bee is the leading paper in Toledo, to-day, for news." Such was the expression of one of the leading republicans of Wauseon, recently, and it is only just to the Bee to say that we have heard numerous other republicans voice the same sentiment.

Chicago was probably surprised this morning to learn that it will entertain the national democratic convention. So all the cities which competed for the favor are surprised. Chicago was not a competitor and was not supposed to be in it, but somehow great things turn to the great central western metropolis of the country. The convention will be well cared for and all candidates will be fairly treated. The time is June 21.

"The well-protected manufacturers do not seem to have heard that cotton has touched the lowest price ever known in the history of its culture in this country," says the New York Advertiser. The operatives in the cotton manufactories know that their wage has touched the lowest price known in the history of cotton manufacturing since the looms started up in 1863, after enforced idleness. Let us all hurrah some more for protection.

The average price per day paid the workmen of free trade Great Britain is $1.06. Ohio workmen average $1.75 a day. What do you think of the "robber tariff?"—Toledo Afternoon Organ.

And the one-dollar-and-six-cents-a-day workman in free trade Great Britain can buy a good woolen coat for a third less than the one-dollar-and-seventy-five-cents-a-day man pays for a coat regulated by legislation. The person who writes squibs like the above-quoted should take time to attend the University Extension lecture course. The laborers are learning that the purchasing power of a man's wage determines its real value.

That was a shocking catastrophe which visited Indianapolis last night in the burning of the Surgical Institute. Helpless cripples "...sted to death, patients strapped to their couches, unable to extricate themselves, perishing in the flames, are dreadful things to contemplate.

It would seem that buildings which house helpless inmates, public institutions, should be rendered as nearly as possible, fire-proof. We read that the fire originated in an old annex, separated from the main building by a narrow space. What is the duty of the fire inspector of a city? Will the Indianapolis horror be a warning to other institutions and other cities?

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican, which has a mugwumpian surface and is as thoroughly republican at heart as it ever was, grudgingly gives the democratic policy of retrenchment this much credit:

The most that the Holman resolutions mean is that the democrats propose to watch the outgoes from the treasury more closely than the republicans did, and a repudiation of the bounty-giving policy of the last congress. There is a large enough hole in it to roll a good many logs through.

If the party in power in the house does no more than is here conceded, the people of the country will be thankful for that degree of escape from spoliation. As for attempts at log rolling in the future, they will be made. They are in every congress. It remains to be seen how they will be met. There is more than one watchdog of the treasury on guard in this house to see that none of the people's money escapes into wrong channels.

"Owing to over-production, large numbers of flint glass factories are closed down, in and about Pittsburg, and hundreds of workmen are thrown out of employment. If the twenty-one houses of the association close down, 2,500 men will be thrown out of work. * * In Bridgeton, New Jersey, the large iron mills closed indefinitely, yesterday, leaving a large force of men idle on the streets."

These reports are from morning dispatches. And why are such things happening so soon after the enforcement of the new tax law, sections of which were framed for the especial benefit of the industries named? A thoughtful republican put it in print the other day that the danger attending the operation of the new tariff law was, that the desire for quick and large profits would lead too many to embark in the industries "favored" by the law, and over-production and stagnation would be the result.

We cannot compel foreigners to buy our products, neither can we win them to, by building a wall against their products. Neither can we compel our own people to consume any more home-made goods than they desire, or are able to purchase. By virtue of the tax law which shuts out competition, the "favored industries" can combine and make a schedule of prices, but the day of reckoning comes when there is no movement in their product. They have pocketed tribute money enough to enable them to close their doors and wait, but the "protected" workmen, what of them? And this is what comes of governmental interference with trade, forcing it out of natural channels into unnatural ones, at the dictation of particular classes which have influence to extend in return for the favor. The people will come to a proper understanding of these things by-and-by.

THAT FIFTEENTH MAN.

Time was, not long ago, when the name of Joseph P. Bradley, an associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, was hated by all democrats. It was this man who caused the people to lower their estimation of the judiciary of the country. Prior to 1876 there was a sort of reverence among people for a person who occupied a judicial position. This respect was older than the republic. It was as ancient as the common law. The office, if not the man, was held to be above the ordinary plane of human thought and action. A partisan prior to election was believed to be endowed with loftier motives when the judicial oath of office was administered to him. In a country where the extremes of partisanship are so manifest as in the United States it was well that a refuge of respect for office might somewhere be found and the bulwark of our liberties and the guardianship of our institutions were somehow believed to be securely lodged with the judiciary. As solid as a rock was the anchorage, until the crime of 1876 was made possible by the political act of Joseph P. Bradley, who flung aside his spotless ermine and as a man, a politician, a meanly partisan agent, decided that in one state it was lawful for the electoral commission to go behind the official returns, while in another state it was impossible to do that very thing. By Bradley's partisan vote it was criminally established, that though Packard, a republican candidate for governor in Louisiana, received a larger vote than Nichols, the democratic candidate, and a much larger vote than Hayes, yet Hayes carried the state for president and Nichols, democrat, for governor. Mr. Bradley, a supreme judge, God save the mark! gave the casting vote which fastened this infamy upon the country and made a man president de facto who clearly had a minority of the electoral votes, and who was more than a quarter of a million votes in the minority on the popular vote.

Bradley is dead—died in Washington this morning.

The ermine which he bedraggled was never picked up by the conniver at the crime, though he remained a judge to his death. From the disgraceful act of '77 the judiciary of the United States never recovered. The beautiful mask which a loyal people had seen before every man clothed with judicial authority, from a justice of the peace to a justice of the supreme court, was torn away, never to be replaced. Since 1877 other judges, federal and state, have been notoriously partisan. The political minority has never since possessed any rights in court which the majority on the bench seemed bound to respect. This may be a sweeping assertion, but it is as true as Gospel. The man now seeks the office, and on the bench he is a man still. The people may respect him for the power he wields, and occasionally he may be greatly respected for his commanding ability, but the plain people are very apt to think of the man and not the judge.

To this level Joseph P. Bradley lowered the judiciary, at the beck of the politicians. His death is regretted by his friends, for he was a genial, able man, but the day be cursed when Bradley the politician forgot that he was Bradley the judge.

"I am a reformer, but when it comes to choosing between a conservative government at Ottawa or being ruled from Washington, I take the former."—Mr. B. B. Osler, Q. C., in the Toronto Empire. Mr. Osler has his choice, and is doubtless satisfied. It is a little difficult to see why the Empire should double lead and otherwise make conspicuous on its editorial page such a commonplace sentence as this unless the Empire has an idea that Mr. Osler, queen's counselor and reformer though he is, has uttered a sentiment of the majority of his fellow countrymen.

The surgical operation performed by Dr. Hubert Flagg, of Massachusetts, by which he set a broken neck, fixed it in place by an iron headpiece, so that the patient recovered, the Philadelphia Times commends to the attention of J. B. Foraker, of Ohio. The Times says: "If Mr. Foraker was wise he'd send for Dr. Flagg and let him try to patch up his broken senatorial neck. Probably John Sherman would loan him a spare head piece."

The New York World has this unkind skid at Col.-Editor Shepard: "The New York editor who longs for war is doubtless very glad he does not live in San Francisco." To which it may be added that the San Franciscans are without doubt equally glad that the width of the continent is between them and the Mail and Express.

The Newburg Register is out with this ticket and prophecy: "Hill and Holman would make an excellent presidential ticket. It would mean New York and Indiana and Democratic success next November." We leave it for some more profane journal than the Bee to say, "The H—— it would."

More nut-gall for New York: Chicago virtually withdrew from the convention contest days ago, but being the only city that could poll a majority of votes, the prize was given her without a struggle. "Rah for Chicago. She'll have to spread herself again and take in the rest of the state.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Mr. Blaine will be 62 on January 31, and should have years of useful life before him.

The Princess Helene, of Montenegro, is said to be the prettiest royalist in Europe.

Privy Councilor Gustav von Loeper, who died a few days ago in Berlin, was one of the most famous Goethe scholars in Germany.

Secretary Elkins, Postmaster-General Wanamaker, Judge Nathan H. Goff, Senator John G. Carlisle and Senator Arthur P. Gorman are among the most conspicuous smooth-shaven men in public life.

The Toronto Globe will either have to apologize to Lady Macdonald for coupling her name with a northwest land scandal or face the music of a libel suit.

Not only has Rubinstein declined munificent offers made to persuade him to give piano recitals in America, but he even evades propositions of this sort in Europe.

Mme. Ratazzi is now somewhere between 60 and 70 years of age. The granddaughter of Lucien Bonaparte, she was accounted in her day the most beautiful woman in Paris.

Dr. L. S. Jameson, whose appointment as administrator of Mashonaaland is announced, is perhaps the most renowned medical man on the African continent. He is a Scotchman.

Mr. Geo. W. Childs intends adding another to the long list of his benefactions by making a big new public park out in the Pennsylvania country not very far from Philadelphia.

Col. Vivian, whose recent marriage was one of the society events of New York, has had 20 years' service in the British army and did good work in the Egyptian campaign and fought bravely at Tel-el-Keber.

Secretary Foster has awarded a life saving medal of honor to Moritz Rosenthal, of Riverside, Cal., a lad of 14 years, for rescuing a man from drowning on the 29th of August, 1891, at the peril of his own life.

Judic's jewels and other treasures brought absurdly low prices at auction. A diamond necklace worth $6,000 was sold for $1,900, and the laces were almost given away, one fine princess dress in point applique going for $19

MENTIONED ON THE STREETS.

A PUBLIC RECEPTION

To the Press League Delegates To Be Held at the Produce Exchange.

Yesterday afternoon the general committee appointed by the Toledo club, Produce Exchange and the Press club, to arrange for the reception of the Press league delegates, next week Saturday, met at the Boody house. President King, of the Produce Exchange, was made chairman, J. C. Bonner treasurer, and N. D. Cochran, secretary.

The delegates will not make a long stay, but it is intended that the time they do remain here will be well spent and in a manner that will cause them to remember the Future Great as a pleasant break in their homeward journey.

They will arrive early in the morning, and will be met with carriages and taken to the Produce Exchange, where a public reception will take place. A drive about the city will follow. The carriages will be entirely at the disposal of the visitors, and those who do not care to accompany the main party can drive about at their pleasure. Luncheon at the Toledo club will follow the drive, after which they will be driven back to the depot.

The chairman, treasurer and secretary were appointed a committee on finance; F. A. Kumler, Elmer White and E. L. Southworth will make arrangements for the luncheon, etc., and S. S. Knabenshue, H. C. Vortriede and Wm. Beatty are to prepare a souvenir of the visit. Another meeting will be held to-morrow at 4 p. m. at the Boody.

STOCKHOLDERS AT WAR.

A Serious Row in Standard Gas Light Company.

New York, Jan. 22.—The Herald this morning says there was a stormy scene yesterday at a special meeting of the stockholders of the Standard Gaslight company in this city.

Ex-Judge A. B. Schlonecker attacked ex-President Wallace C. Andrews in a speech full of virulent abuse and threatened to kill him. He advanced on Andrews with uplifted cane but was restrained by those seated near by.

While Schlonecker was trying to reach Andrews the latter said not a word. His little eyes, however, were snapping with suppressed rage, and his right hand was thrust in the pocket of his trousers where a revolver is generally carried.

It was the general opinion that Andrews would have shot the furious Schlonecker had the latter got loose from his captors and attacked him.

THE STREET RAILWAY QUESTION

Fostoria, Jan. 22.—Fostoria is again agitating the question of electric street railways.

An English syndicate has bought up all the oak timber standing in the western portion of Seneca county, and has a large force of laborers at work near the village of Bascom. The timber is roughly hewn before shipment, and is destined for ship building.

CLUBS AND SOCIETIES.

Fifteenth Annual Meeting of the New Century Club This Evening.

The New Century club meets this evening with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bissell, 1861 Summit street. This is the fifteenth annual meeting of this bright club, and election of officers for the ensuing year will be held. In addition there will be a mixed program, which has been prepared by the executive committee, and which will be sure to please. These annual reunions are always the most delightful of the always pleasant meetings of this club.

The Catholic Club.

The meeting of this young and growing club last evening was in Friendship hall, corner Summit and Jefferson streets, and that hall has been secured as permanent quarters for the club for the coming year, the meetings to be held on Thursday evenings. There was a large attendance last night, and a number of names added to the membership roll. Last night's program was excellent and enjoyed by all. It included vocal and instrumental music rendered by Mrs. A. A. Smith and Miss Ulrich, Messrs. Rudolph Phillipps and Joseph Uhl, and a selection read by Father Burns, "Stray Shots at Wet Blankets." The paper of the evening was by Miss Minnie Calkins; subject, "Just What We Want," suggested by the success of the club itself.

Political Equality Club.

This society of bright young women meets in regular fortnightly session tomorrow afternoon, at 4 o'clock, with Mrs. George Beeley, 435 Tenth street. The program includes a parliamentary drill on "Dependent Motions," which will be led by Mrs. Judge Bentley, and reports on the doings of congress, the cabinet and president, and the state legislature since the last meeting. It is expected Mrs. C. Q. Murphy and Miss Jeannette Olmstead will have returned from the National Suffrage convention in Washington, and their report thereon will add greatly to the interest of the meeting. All ladies cordially invited.

"School" and the Day Nursery.

There will be a rehearsal this evening at Lewis' photograph gallery, of "School," Robertson's charming comedy, which some of our Toledo young ladies and gentlemen are preparing to give at Wheeler's some time in February, for the benefit of the Day Nursery circle of King's Daughters.

The cast for the play is as follows:

Jack Poyntz.....Mr. Witt K. Cochrane
Lord Beaufoy.....Mr. Frank Roff
Beau Farintosh.....Mr. Robert Evans
Dr. Sutcliffe.....Mr. Chas. O'Brien
Krux.....Mr. Malcolm Russell
Bella.....Mrs. E. D. Scheble
Naomi.....Miss Gussie Campbell
Mrs. Sutcliffe.....Miss Thorne
Tilly.....Miss Florence Boos
Milly.....Miss Fanny Clark
Laura.....Miss Laura Thorne
Clara.....Miss Fannie Hubbell
Kitty.....Miss Ora McMillan
Hetty.....Miss Dot Trowbridge
Servants, game-keepers, attendants, etc.

It will be given two evenings, and the good people of the city will no doubt patronize it largely, as the worthy object of the Day Nursery circle is one which commends itself to all.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION COURSE.

To-Night's Subject, "Social and Industrial Results of Steam Transportation.

The second in Prof. Henry C. Adams' course of six lectures on economics will be given in the High school hall this evening, the lecture beginning at 7:45 sharp. Prof. Compton has received the printed list of questions, which he will furnish to any of the patrons of the lectures desiring the same. The study class will begin to-night, immediately at the close of the lecture. There is no additional cost attached to it for those who attend the lectures. Course tickets for the remaining five lectures can still be procured for $1. Admission to single lectures is 25 cents.

Prof. Adams' subject to-night will be: "Social and Industrial Results of Steam Transportation," which will be treated along the lines indicated by the following sub-divisions:

1. Transportation by steam is the complement of manufacturing by machinery. (a) Facts pertaining to the development of steam transportation. (b) Extent of railways throughout the world.

2. The social results of steam transportation are such as arise from increase in speed and safety in travel, and from change in character of traffic. (a) Facts pertaining to speed and safety. (b) Modern commerce for the first time touches the lives of all classes of people. (c) Centralization of political power rendered possible. (d) The birth of national self-consciousness rendered possible.

3. The industrial results of steam transportation are such as follow upon changes in prices and in business organization. (a) Facts pertaining to changes in prices. (b) A perfect market excludes speculation. (c) Facts pertaining to changes in business organization. (d) The monopoly problem defined.

No one who heard the opening lecture of this course can doubt that Prof. Adams will treat his subject ably, and in a manner that will add much to the information of all students of social and economic questions.

SWINDLED

By a Fellow With a Doleful Story About His Hired Girl.

E. H. Bower, whose place of business is at 523 Monroe street, was neatly worked by a clever swindler last evening. The fellow came to Mr. Bower with a doleful story, giving his name as Stevens, residence 46 Ontario street. He said that his hired girl had just received a telegram containing the information that her mother was dead. She wanted $10 to take her home and he did not have the money. If Bower would kindly lend it he would leave his gold watch for security. Bower gave up the money but when the man was gone he found the watch to be a shoddy affair hardly worth a dollar.

A CONFEDERATE FLAG.

It Has Stirred Up Boston to an Alarming Extent.

Boston, Jan. 22.—The confederate flag which was captured from a North Carolina regiment at Hanover Court House in 1862, and which is now in the custody of the county clerk, was the subject of a sharp discussion at the meeting of the common council last night, as a result of which the aldermanic order that it be returned to the regiment was laid over for one week.

THE DUKE OF ORLEANS.

He Must Answer in Court for His Sins.

A Sensational Suit That is Breaking the Health of the Count of Paris and Causing Much Scandal.

London, Jan. 22.—Lewis & Lewis, solicitors for Capt. Charles Armstrong in his suit against the Duke of Orleans, for alienating the affections of Mrs. Armstrong, better known as the famous soprano, Madame Melba, have answered the last pleadings of the duke's lawyers, to the effect that Capt. Armstrong had no domicile in England.

Capt. Armstrong admits having been born in Ireland, but asserts that England is the country of his residence. With this last objection brushed aside, it is believed that the duke will now be compelled to come to trial on the issue which he has been extremely anxious to avoid.

Armstrong is prepared to prove that the young prince, who would now be heir-apparent to the throne of France if his father reigned, has followed Madame Melba with his attentions from capital to capital throughout Europe, while the captain was away in Australia, attending to his business.

He will also claim that the duke succeeded in overcoming the madame's wifely scruples and that he was recognized as her devoted lover.

The Count of Paris is so depressed over the approaching scandal that his health is affected.

WAKE UP.

If you wake up in the morning with a bitter or bad taste in your mouth, Languor, Dull Headache, Despondency, Constipation, take Simmons Liver Regulator. It corrects the bilious stomach, sweetens the breath and cleanses the furred tongue. Children as well as adults sometimes eat something that does not digest well, producing Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Restlessness, or Sleeplessness—a good dose of Regulator will give relief. So perfectly harmless is this remedy that it can be taken by the youngest infant or the most delicate person without injury, no matter what the condition of the system may be. It can do no harm if it does no good, but its reputation for 40 years proves it never fails in doing good.

FASCINATION.

Why So Many Ladies Who Should be Attractive Fail to Please—A Brilliant Woman Reveals the Secret.

(Ladies' Home.)

"Dress is everything."

"Is it? Some beautiful women cannot be improved by dress, no matter how artistic it may be made."

The speakers were two lady reporters for society papers. They had attended balls, receptions and parties for years. They had studied the effects of costumes, the lines of beauty, and had faithfully written upon them in the papers they represented. They were masters in their art and yet they differed.

"You cannot prove your assertion by any lady of high standing and authority."

"I can," replied her companion. "Within two days I will show you an interview with the leading woman on dress of America." And the two friends parted.

Last Wednesday they met at the same place, when, producing a neatly-written manuscript, the lady read the following remarkable interview:

"Mrs. Annie Jenness Miller is the acknowledged authority in America upon the subject of dress. An attractive woman herself, she knows how to render other women attractive in the highest degree. I sought an interview; it was granted, and I give you the results:

"'Do you think, Mrs. Miller, that women are made more attractive by their dress?'

"'That depends upon what you mean by attractive.'

"'Pleasing, fascinating if you choose—more charming to men and other women.'

"'A simply beautiful woman is seldom attractive; a stupid one never. It is the soul, the life, the brilliancy, which render women attractive.'

"'I'll admit that, but what makes women brilliant?'

"'Vivacity, brightness and good health. Did you ever see a sickly woman able to entertain a dinner party of bright people? On the other hand, did you ever know a cultivated and refined woman, overflowing with animal life and spirits, who was not fascinating?'

"'So you believe perfect health is the secret of fascination, do you?'

"'Most certainly. Artistic dressing is proper, fine curves attractive, but life such as comes from healthy throbbing blood is alone fascinating. It is a great mistake, however, to think that health is preserved by dress alone. Women must have proper food, freedom from care, and a good friend in need.'

"'What do you mean by that?'

"'Some assistance, physically. All women feel depressed at times, and all pleasure seems gone out of life. On all such occasions, and indeed whenever blue or worn out, she needs help. I know, because I have been in that condition myself.'

"'And what do you do when in that condition?'

"'One thing, and one thing only. I am assisted by the best friend that any woman ever had. It is Warner's Safe Cure. I mean it, and I have good reason to speak as I do. You think I am a perfectly healthy woman; so I am, but I take several bottles of this great cure every season just as I take additional care in the selection of tonic-giving food. As you know, there are certain times when every woman needs assistance. At such times, and before such times, there is, so far as I know, but one thing that can help, and that is the great cure I have named.'

"I bade Mrs. Miller a reluctant good-by, for I felt that I had met a woman who knew women, what their trials and troubles were, and what they required."

MRS. GRAHAM'S

Cucumber and Elder Flower Cream

Is not a cosmetic in the sence in which the term is popularly used, but permanently beautifies. It creates a soft, smooth, clear, velvety skin, and by daily use gradually makes the complexion several shades whiter. It is a constant protection from the effects of sun and wind and prevents sunburn and freckles and blackheads will never come while you use it. It cleanses the face far better than soap and water, nourishes and builds up the skin tissues and thus prevents the formation of wrinkles. It gives the freshness, clearness and smoothness of skin that you had when a little girl. Every lady, young or old, ought to use it, as it gives a more youthful appearance to any lady and that permanently. It contains no acid, powder or alkali, and is as harmless as dew and as nourishing to the skin as dew is to the flower. Price $1.00. Ask your druggist for it.

SAMPLE BOTTLE mailed free to any lady on receipt of 10 cents in stamps to pay for postage and packing. Lady Agents wanted.

THE ANSWERED PRAYER.

"I ask thee not for fame," he said,
"I would not wear that weighty crown,
Nor yet for riches would I pray;
But God in heaven, bend thee down—
I pray for peace," he said.

"From my poor life, grief's stormy sea
Hath tossed my fairest hopes aside;
I ask not for return of these
Upon some fair incoming tide,—
I pray for peace," he said.

He turned his head—beside him stood
A man whose face was pale but fair;
Whose quiet eyes like starlight shone
From out his dark and misty hair;
"Thy prayer is heard," he said.

"But thou art Death,—thy name is writ
Upon that still and smileless face—
I prayed for peace—why art thou here?
What bringeth thee to seek this place?
I prayed for peace," he said.

"Thy prayer is heard," the angel said,
"Men pray for peace, yet Death would shun,
Not seeing, with their blinded eyes,
That Death and Peace are ever one.
Thy prayer is heard," he said.

A curious marriage custom is recorded by Dr. Post as existing in Southern India among some of the more primitive non-Aryan tribes. The great grain harvest of 1891 in the United States was raised on 221,411 square miles, an area about the size of Texas. Iowa alone raised 480,000,00 bushels of corn, wheat and oats on less than 22,123 square miles, which is considerably less than half the entire area of the state. The ability of this country to feed a population of 500,000,000 seems plain enough.

The will of Michael Reilly, the millionaire distiller and wholesale grocer of Wheeling, is one of the most remarkable efforts to spite living heirs ever recorded. The will leaves all the property to Bishop J. J. Kaine and Monseigneur Sullivan, of the Roman Catholic church, to hold in trust until the heirs now living are dead, when the property is to be divided among their heirs. The effect is to tie up all his property for perhaps nearly a century, as some of the grandchildren are still quite young.

The present extent of the vatican is enormous, the number of rooms, at the lowest computation, being 4,422. Its treasures of marble statues, ancient gems, paintings, books, manuscripts, etc., are to be compared only with those in the British museum. The length of the statue museum alone is a fraction over a mile. Conservative writers say that the gold contained in the medals, vessels, chains and other objects preserved in the vatican would make more gold coins than the whole of the present European circulation.

CHICAGO TOOK THE CAKE.

Democratic Convention to be Held There.

A Victory Scored on the Fifteenth Ballot.

Much Surprise Shown—Milwaukee Was Several Times Right in the Heat of the Battle.

Washington, Jan. 22.—After each city had presented its claims to the national democratic convention yesterday afternoon a recess was taken until 9 o'clock. On reassembling balloting was immediately commenced. The date of the national convention had been fixed for June 21 at the afternoon session and Chicago won the location after a spirited battle, as follows:

The Ballots.

The balloting was as follows:

First ballot—New York 5, Milwaukee 8, San Francisco 8, Cincinnati 3, Detroit 2, St. Paul 7, Indianapolis 2, Kansas City 13, Chicago 1.

Second ballot—New York 4, St. Paul 7, Cincinnati 1, San Francisco 8, Detroit 2, Milwaukee 10, Chicago 2, Kansas City 12, Indianapolis 3.

Third ballot—Milwaukee 10, New York 1, Cincinnati 3, St. Paul 9, Detroit 1, San Francisco 15, Indianapolis 2, Kansas City 5, Chicago 3.

Fourth ballot—New York 1, St. Paul 13, Cincinnati 6, San Francisco 2, Detroit 3, Milwaukee 8, Chicago 3, Indianapolis 7, Kansas City 6.

Fifth ballot—New York 4, St. Paul 8, Cincinnati 11, San Francisco 0, Detroit 1, Milwaukee 10, Chicago 3, Indianapolis 2, Kansas City 10.

Sixth ballot—New York 3, St. Paul 6, Cincinnati 2, San Francisco 0, Detroit 19, Milwaukee 8, Chicago 2, Indianapolis 3, Kansas City 6.

Seventh ballot—Milwaukee 9, New York 3, Kansas City 7, St. Paul 4, Detroit 1, Indianapolis 1, Cincinnati 2, Chicago 5, Des Moines 17.

Eighth ballot—Milwaukee 9, St. Paul 5, Cincinnati 1, Indianapolis 22, Kansas City 5, Detroit 1, Chicago 3, New York 1.

Ninth ballot—New York 10, St. Paul 6, Cincinnati 1, Detroit 1, Milwaukee 20, Chicago 4, Indianapolis 1, Kansas City 6.

Tenth ballot—Milwaukee 18, New York 1, Cincinnati 0, St. Paul 8, Indianapolis 1, Chicago 13, Kansas City 7, Detroit 1.

Eleventh ballot—New York 1, St. Paul 6, Detroit 1, Milwaukee 22, Chicago 15, Indianapolis 1, Kansas City 3.

Twelfth ballot—New York 1, St. Paul 6, Detroit 1, Milwaukee 20, Chicago 17, Kansas City 3, Indianapolis 1.

Thirteenth ballot—Milwaukee 21, St. Paul 5, Indianapolis 1, Chicago 17, Kansas City 4, Detroit 1.

Fourteenth ballot—St. Paul 3, Detroit 1, Milwaukee 21, Chicago 22, Kansas City 2.

Fifteenth ballot—Detroit 1, Kansas City 2, Milwaukee 18, St. Paul 1, Chicago 27.

On motion of Mr. Mitchell, of Wisconsin the vote was made unanimous.

The resignation of Mr. Mitchell, the member of the committee from Wisconsin, was accepted. The committee then adjourned to meet in Chicago June 20 next.

BURNED TO DEATH.

An Overturned Lamp Does Its Deadly Work.

Pensacola, Fla., Jan. 22.—Mrs. George Collins was burned to death here last night.

She was seated at a table when the lamp was accidentally overturned. It fell into her lap and the burning oil ran over her clothing, which was quickly ignited.

Mrs. Collins ran screaming into the street, completely wrapped in flame. Several pedestrians ran to her assistance, but were too late to be of service. Her body was burned to a crisp and she died within an hour.

ALARM IS INCREASING.

Garza Believed to be Gaining Strength.

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 22.—Private advices received here from the lower part of the Rio Grande border are to the effect that the excitement there over the Garza revolutionary movement, instead of decreasing, is spreading among the people, and the plotters against the administration of President Diaz are gaining in numbers rapidly.

In the meantime the United States troops and federal authorities will continue to exercise their vigilance, while the Mexican government is anxiously awaiting the expected revolt to be started on a formidable scale.

SILVER CONFERENCE.

Minister Lincoln Will Ask England to Join Us.

New York, Jan. 22.—A special to the Herald from Washington says Minister Lincoln has been instructed to invite Great Britain to join in an international conference on the silver question, if in his opinion the feeling of the English cabinet is such as to justify the invitation.

PREPARING FOR WAR.

The Foraker and Sherman Republicans

Are Sharpening Up Their Trusty Knives.

A Great Battle to be Fought in the Ohio State Convention Soon to be Held.

Cleveland, Jan. 22.—The Leader correspondent telegraphs his paper as follows from Columbus: The senatorial contest was a lively one, but the one which is now beginning will eclipse it. The senatorship involved only two men directly, but the question of Ohio's delegation to the national republican convention at Minneapolis in June involves not only the presidential candidates, but the senatorial ones also.

The senatorial canvass was but a skirmish in the competition for the control of the Ohio delegation. The friends of ex-Gov. Foraker insist upon drawing the line between themselves and Senator Sherman's supporters, and the latter cannot avoid the contest offered them, however much they desire to obliterate the lines that prevailed during the senatorial canvass.

The ex-governor is pursuing the same head-strong policy which he followed in his canvass for the senatorship, and which will excite the friends of Senator Sherman to active interest in the coming state convention.

The Foraker men have not agreed upon any candidates for delegates at large except ex-Gov. Foraker. For the other place the names of Gen. Asa Bushnell and Representative C. P. Griffin, of Lucas, have been freely used.

On the other side Chairman Hahn is a prominent candidate, whether at his own desire or that of his friends does not appear. This striving for the delegation to Minneapolis will have the effect of painfully dwarfing the importance of the candidates for the state ticket, which will be headed by the candidate for secretary of state, and as a result there is not that interest in canvassing their chances of nomination that usually obtains when there is no presidential campaign to attract attention.

John J. Chester, of this city, secretary of the State Republican league, is the most prominently named man to succeed the Hon. D. J. Ryan, but before the convention assembles there will be probably other candidates who will press their claims just as vigorously as Mr. Chester.

In a general way it is given out that Hon. C. P. Griffin, the member from Lucas county, has affixed his little lightning rod to his skull cap and is posing as a Cincinnatus waiting for a telegraphic call to the service of his state. And thus it seems Mr. Griffin is willing to be either delegate-at-large or secretary of state.

The office of clerk of the supreme court is a very desirable place and there are three republicans willing and anxious to fill Urban Hester's shoes.

Cuyahoga county will be represented in the contest by John C. Lester, the present statistican in the secretary of state's office. Deputy Clerk H. M. Crow, of Champaign county, wants to succeed his chief, and "Si," otherwise Josiah Allen, of Athens, will see that Messrs. Lester and Crow will not have the fight for the nomination all to themselves. For other places on the ticket not much interest is yet manifested.

Michael Flynn, of Virginia City, Nev., has applied for letters patent on an airship, "which he says he can hold stationary in space while the earth revolves beneath him, thus enabling him to make a trip around the globe in 24 hours."

IN THE NICK OF TIME.

The nick of time to stop the course of bladder and kidney complaints is when the organs concerned exhibit a tendency to grow inactive. The healthful impulse toward activity that they receive from Hostetter's Stomach Bitters rescues them from impending danger, and averts such dangerous maladies as Bright's disease and diabetes. Sluggishness of the kidneys increases a liability to chronic rheumatism, gout and dropsy, and since the blood is filtered by these organs in its passage through them, the operation of the Bitters serves a doubly happy purpose. The medicine acts without exciting, like the fiery stimulants of commerce. Malarial, dyspeptic, constipated and nervous invalids are thoroughly relieved by it. Since the advent of that shocking malady, la grippe, it has been widely demonstrating its usefulness as a curative and preventive of it.

THE GAS CERTIFICATES

Come In for An Airing Before the Ways and Means.

Statements Made by Three of the Gas Trustees,

Showing the Condition of the City Plant—Attorney Kinney Talks for Taxpayers Opposed to the Latest Plans.

The council committee on ways and means held a very important meeting and conference with the board of gas trustees last evening in Auditor Walker's office. The occasion was the proposition by the gas trustees to refund their certificates of indebtedness to the amount of $346,366.45 into 10-year bonds.

Most of the members of the committee were present, and Messrs. Parsons, Greene and Jones, of the board of gas trustees. Manager Heston and Secretary Brown were also on hand, and the lobby was filled with a large-sized congregation of councilmen and interested citizens.

City Solicitor Read was there and listened to the talk, but had nothing to say.

The proposition was presented and discussed at length, but the committee did not attempt to take action in the matter, as they wanted time to think it over.

The project also met opposition, and some wholesome truths were brought out by Attorney G. W. Kinney.

President Parsons of the board of gas trustees read the proposition of his board, which was previously printed in the Bee in full. This document asked the council to issue 10-year 5 per cent. bonds in the sum of $346,366.45 to take the place of certificates of indebtedness to that amount issued by the gas board.

After reading this Mr. Parsons proceeded to give reasons in full for the request made by the gas trustees, and he prefaced his statement by saying that the office and books of the gas trustees were open at any time for examination by the councilmen or citizens.

"We owe this money," said Mr. Parsons, "to various parties for laying pipe, for material, and to citizens who advanced money to lay pipe. The money owing to contractors is past due and ought to be paid, but we can't do it. It is impossible for the receipts of the office to meet this indebtedness. If, out of our receipts, we were to pay the contractors and refund to citizens their share of the money, we would have nothing at all left, to improve the plant or make extensions.

"Our gas at present is coming from the Stuartsville field, and here the rock pressure has reduced from 370 pounds to 120. We have plenty of gas but no pressure to bring it to the city. For this reason it is necessary to buy a pump or open some fresh territory, which we cannot do without money.

"While our contracts provide that the contractors shall be paid 75 per cent. of the income they have been paid nothing, and they are pressing us hard. What we owe on pipe and material is due in monthly installments, which we have not the cash to meet.

"We have still about 2,000 acres of good territory about eight miles from Oil Center that is untouched, but it would take money to build the six miles of line to connect this with our main line. This is being held in reserve.

"We are now supplying the city with about 10,000,000 feet of gas per day, but if we had pressure we could supply three times that amount, and we could add 4,000 customers.

"The reason the pressure ran down so in the Stuartsville field is because the Northwestern and the Findlay lines are drawing from the same field, and although the gas is still there we have no pressure.

"If the council will issue these bonds we can take up our indebtedness and apply our receipts to increasing the city's supply of gas."

Col. Parsons then read the following figures on the indebtedness of the gas trustees:

Due contractors for construction and laying pipe.....	$128,874.27
Due for pipe on certificates issued.....	86,140.52
Due for pipe certificates not issued.....	19,800.00
Material on hand an offset...	19,500.00
Money advanced by citizens,..	67,046.02
Returned to citizens,.....	15,074.33
Amount due citizens,.....	51,971.69
Total cash income,.....	85,419.89
Cred'ts to citizens,.....	10,573.00
Monthly expenses,.....	3,200.00
Pay roll,.....	2,800.00
Cash receipts for January,...	17,500.00
Credited to citizens,.....	5,000.00
Cash on hand,.....	8,000.00
Two notes due this month....	10,000.00

"The contractors are pushing us for their money. We would have been in good shape for this winter if the pressure on our wells had not gone down, but this obliged us to drill more wells and incur expenses which we had not calculated on. You all know of the opposition we have met, and the delay it has caused us. By this delay the city has lost a million dollars in gas and income. We should have been drawing gas from our Stuartsville field three years ago. Now Findlay and the Northwestern have been draining that field all this time, and it will not be available next winter unless pumped.

"We were obliged to drill nine wells this winter at a cost of $9,814.78 with a cost of connecting of $5,236. We now have 41 wells with a daily capacity of 65,915,000 cubic feet of gas."

President Parsons was questioned by the committee on various details of the gas work which he answered. In this discussion Mr. Parsons stated that they were reducing their force and the expenses as much and as fast as possible. He also thought that a pumping engine was just the thing.

He attributed part of the difficulties of the trustees and their inadequate supply of gas to the great rush of customers which the city line had experienced. The trustees had only calculated on having about 2,000 consumers this winter and now they have 6,000.

Dr. Jones was called upon, and he reiterated some of the statements of Col. Parsons and stated some of the necessities of refunding these certificates of indebtedness into bonds. "This is an important and critical time," said he, "and if the council don't come to our relief we won't be able to supply as much gas as is necessary. In the field we need cash and it will cost about $20,000 to make extensions to the new field.

"The city now has about $1,000,000 invested here in a gas plant, and it is a question whether the city will now help us out and save this money or let it become practically useless. Only a few days ago the trustees had a chance to buy a supply of 10,000,000 feet of gas per day at high pressure at a cost of less than $20,000, which I consider a low figure, but we could not do it because we had no money."

Mr. Greene made a similar statement, and he attributed much of the loss of pressure to the constant drainage of the field by the oil wells near by, which released an immense amount of gas.

Councilman Lee—"What is there in this statement that we hear about parties using gas without paying for it?"

Mr. Greene—"About November first there was a stampede of citizens, who had put money in for laying pipe, applying for gas. They came faster than we could provide for them, and our plumbers could not make connections fast enough. The board then passed a resolution permitting people to employ other plumbers and make their own connections. These plumbers were to make returns to our office, showing what connections they had made. The plumbers very largely failed to make this return and consequently many people were connected that we knew nothing about. We have had a great hunt to find these people, but most of them have been discovered and placed on the books. There may still be some using gas that we know nothing of, but I don't think this prevails to any great extent."

Mr. Potter—"What measures have you taken to stop people from using gas through rubber tubes?"

Mr. Greene—"We have men examining mixers all the time."

Mr. Caldwell—"How would it do to make an issue of bonds for part of this sum, say $100,000, instead of $350,000?"

Mr. Parsons—"I don't think that would help much, as this indebtedness is equally due to these different parties, and we wouldn't know where to place part of it."

Mr. Caldwell—"How would it do to issue a 4 per cent bond instead of 5 per cent?"

Mr. Parsons—"That would do just as well, and there will be no trouble in placing these bonds. It would also be a big saving to the city. These certificates are bearing 6 per cent interest and are due in three years. If this debt could be put off for 10 years at 4 per cent., it would be a saving of 2 per cent."

Mr. Coleman—"If we issue these bonds and pay off your present indebtedness, do you think it will be necessary for you to incur any further indebtedness?"

Mr. Parsons—"No, sir."

Mr. Potter—"With this can you rectify the mistakes of pipe laying in the city, especially where you have a pipe that is too small?"

Mr. Parsons—"Yes, sir. And I think if we had a pump to increase the pressure that the additional receipts we would have in three months would pay for the pump."

Some Suggestions.

This concluded the side of the gas trustees but before the committee adjourned Attorney Guy W. Kinney made a request to be heard as he had some suggestions to make in the matter on behalf of numerous tax payers whom he represented.

The committee decided to hear Mr. Kinney, and he at once proceeded to lay before them the other side of this question of issuing more bonds.

"When the original act was passed granting to the city the right to issue bonds for gas purposes," said he, "it provided that the entire income of the plant aside from running expenses should be applied to paying interest on and taking care of the bonds. When the people voted on this question it was proclaimed on all sides and was in the minds of everybody that $750,000 was the outside limit of cost for this gas plant and they did not expect to be called upon to contract further debt.

"Last winter another act was passed providing that foot front assessments not exceeding 50 cents per front foot could be issued for laying of pipe. The trustees took some of the provisions of this act to justify them in contracting debt without limit and now want the city to help them out.

"It is doubted by some people if the gas trustees had the power to make these certificates, and that they have no legal validity. I know of people who are ready to test this, but they don't want to go into court with the matter until they reasoned with the council against going into this additional bonded indebtedness of $350,000.

"From information I have received I understand that these contractors made their contracts, fully knowing the character of payments, and in making their bids they took this fact into consideration. It is another fact that the holders of some of these certificates have offered them for 75 cents on the dollar and have been unable to sell. They would undoubtedly make a profit at that, and now the trustees are asking the taxpayers to donate about $75,000 in order to pay these contractors in cash instead of as they understood they were to be paid. It is unjust.

"The city is now paying $33,000 interest on gas bonds, and if these bonds are issued $17,000 will be added to this interest account and the bonded indebtedness of the city for gas purposes will be $1,100,000. The time has come when the taxpayers should be heard. The council should go slow.

"These contractors knew how they were to be paid and they should stand by it. My clients think the city should not issue these additional bonds.

There are many taxpayers who don't think it is right that these certificates which can't sell for 75 per cent. should be replaced by bonds worth par or more. My own opinion is that these certificates are not worth the paper they are written on."

Mr. Potter made a sneering remark about the people who had been opposing the pipe line project, and intimated that the committee should not listen to them.

To this Mr. Kinney answered: "I suppose that it will be conceded that there are some very honorable and ordinarily honest, heavy taxpayers in this city who are and have been opposed to the city pipe line. They should not be precluded and are entitled to the same hearing before the city council as others. Your board is supposed to represent the whole city and not any particular clique."

The majority of the committee assented to this, and very properly sat down upon Mr. Potter.

"The gas territory," continued Mr. Kinney, "has depreciated very largely and very rapidly, according to the statements of the trustees. Now you have invested a million dollars, yet after three months' service they are compelled to admit that part of the territory is utterly worthless and all has depreciated. Now they say that by the issue of $350,000 more we will have all the gas wanted, but this is not certain."

Mr. Macomber—"A good deal of this loss has been caused by the constant opposition to the project for three years."

Mr. Kinney—"That may be true, but I don't believe this much will save the plant. There has been $1,000,000 invested in this undertaking, which is a speculative and hazardous one, and there has been but a poor showing as yet."

Mr. Jones—"Do your clients want the trustees to repudiate this debt of $300,000?"

Mr. Kinney—I have no information on that point."

Several of the committee wanted to know who Mr. Kinney's clients were, but he declined to state further than that they were all bona fide taxpayers of the city and none of them had been interested in the suits against the gas trustees.

This closed the discussion and the committee adjourned without taking any action.

HEN AND STAG.

Or, the Night That We Went Sleighing.

Ever since old Winter spread his last immaculate mantle over this portion of Mother Earth's fair bosom, a certain bevy of young ladies in the Ninth ward have been talking about the nice sleighing, and what a nice thing it would be to make up a party for an evening's frolic behind jingling bells hung around prancing steeds drawing—well, a good big sleigh box well lined with fur blankets and buffalo robes, and filled with a good, congenial crowd, but the pesky boys (fellers) wouldn't catch on. A married man did, and they put up a job to have a "hen party" all to themselves, save the one married man, and teach the boys a lesson.

Matters culminated last Sunday. Just to think (!) after Sunday school arrangements were completed so far as to set the next evening, Monday, as the time for the much-longed-for sleigh ride; and the boys were not to know anything about it; oh no.

The mysterious whisperings of young women in a corner of the church, accompanied by stolen glances at the boys over their (the girls') shoulders, aroused the boys' suspicions that there was "a hen on," and they put their heads together to scare the hen off or know why. Accordingly one of their number drew near enough to catch sufficient to let the secret out and acquaint the boys with what was incubating.

Monday evening came and a big, two-horse band-wagon rig drew up near the corner of Broadway and South street and was soon filled with happy feminine hearts and bodies, and the married man for driver, when the whole jolly crowd started for the ancient city of Maumee. In fact, one of the boys made this flinty remark: "They were stowed so thick in the sleigh that only their feet found room on the bottom of the sleigh, while their bodies were everywhere." Bless you, boy, where should their feet be on such an occasion?

Meantime the boys opened their pocket-books, counted their nickles, and found that they could afford a good, stylish rig—in fact, could show the girls that they were able to pay for and have a stag sleigh ride all to themselves, too; so there now.

Before the hen party had reached Maumee they were passed by a handsome sleigh loaded with a dozen, more or less, of closely-muffled stags, which drove by, silent as the tomb, as far as voices were concerned—and both parties had their ears on the strain for familiar voices. This was repeated a second time with similar result.

The quiet town of Maumee was reached, when the girls succeeded in eluding their pesky pursuers, and found a quiet house in the upper end of the town where they procured warm liquid refreshments with which to wash down their lunch and warm their chilled bodies.

The boys! well, they just got lost in the long street and narrow lanes of that far-famed city and could not scent the quarry. Hence they just kept the horses moving to keep them warm; they didn't care for themselves, oh no, they knew where the girls were all the time; yes, sir, —lost.

Suffice it to say, all parties reached home safe; some glum and some joyous, and now the girls want to know, "Did you ever get left?" And the boys—well, so far as heard from, none of them have yet said, "Come, now, let's kiss and make up!" But they kind o' cast side glances when they pass by.

Alarming Mortal Statistics

A Destroying Epidemic Abroad In Our Land.

La Grippe and Its Consequences More Destructive Than War and Famine Combined.

Synopsis of a Lecture at the Surgical Hotel by Dr. S. B. Hartman.

Reported for the Press.

It was stated by the great recorder of Jewish history, speaking of the land of Egypt after the seventh plague had been sent upon them: "And there was a great cry in Egypt; for there was not a house where there was not some one dead."

Not quite so tragic an utterance is true of our own country at the present time, but certainly it is true that a great plague is abroad in the land; that the first born and last born has been slain in countless households; that parents and infants, without regard to station or circumstances, have fallen a prey to the fell destroyer, La Grippe. Never was there a plague so insidious, so omnipresent, to defy the skill of the physician and the strength of the patient as this pestilence. It does not seem to spread like an ordinary epidemic; it seems to spring from the ground spontaneously everywhere at once. It finds its victims at mid-day; or, like the destroying angel in Egypt, it unsheathes its sword to strike the unwary asleep in the dark watches of the night. It enters the hovels of wretchedness and poverty, and easily crosses the threshold of wealth and luxury. Doctors seem to be wholly unable to prevent its onset, to stay its ravishes, or mitigate its consequences. Is there no balm in Gilead? No succor for the oppressed?

Without hesitation or fear of successful contradiction I answer: Yes, there is a preventive for those who have remained, as yet, untouched with this disease, a cure for those who are already its victims, and a complete and permanent restoration for those who have lately escaped its clutches with weakened and deranged bodies from which recovery seems impossible. To those who have thus far escaped this dreadful ailment, but are trembling with constant fear of it, I desire to say that a tablespoonful of Pe-ru-na, taken before each meal, is absolutely reliable as a preventive against la grippe; and no one need have any fear of an attack of this disease so long as this treatment is continued. It is absolute recklessness, for which there is little or no excuse, for any one, during the unsettled weather at least, to omit to take this precaution. To those who are already attacked by this disease I would advise: At the appearance of the first symptoms treatment should be begun at once, and keep strictly to the house for a few days. No treatment, however effectual it may be, will always prevent quite a long siege with this disease, but no other medicinal treatment is necessary than Pe-ru-na. The directions, as they are given on the bottle, are more applicable to chronic diseases, and it is advisable, during the acute stages of the disease, to take smaller doses, but oftener. I would direct a tablespoonful of Pe-ru-na every two hours for adults, and a correspondingly less dose for children, until the acute stage is ended.

There are a great multitude of people in all parts of the land who have entirely lost their health as a result of la grippe; who have recovered from an attack, but find themselves with weakened nerves, deranged digestion, and with but very little of their former powers. There is no disease known to man that leaves the system in such an outrageous and exasperating condition, as la grippe. The student finds it is impossible to return to his books, the professional man to his routine of office work, and the working man to his labors, with anything like their old vigor. It is even worse with the housewife and the devotee of fashion, whose debilitating employments make recuperation slower. For this class of sufferers Pe-ru-na is a specific; and I do not hesitate to guarantee that if anyone will take Pe-ru-na according to the following directions that in a few weeks they will be entirely restored to their accustomed health: Add two ounces of rock candy to each bottle of Pe-ru-na before using. Take a tablespoonful before each meal and at bed-time. Gradually increase this dose until, at the end of one month, you are taking two tablespoonfuls at a dose. This dose should be continued until every vestige of the symptoms disappear.

Anyone desiring further particulars should write The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Co., of Columbus, O., for a free copy of The Family Physician No. 2—a most admirable treatise on la grippe, acute and chronic catarrh, coughs, colds, and all other climatic diseases of winter.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

Charles Dickson Company Delayed by Snow.

Some Excellent Attractions That Will Soon be Here—Kate Claxton—Modjeska.

Charles Dickson and his company were to have appeared at the opera house in the new comedy Incog. last evening, but in the afternoon Manager Brady received a telegram that they were delayed by snow between Buffalo and Cleveland, and could not get here in time for the evening. Consequently there was no performance last night, to the disappointment of many people who desired to witness this excellent production.

Revival of Two Orphans.

Kate Claxton will appear at Wheeler's Monday evening in The Two Orphans, a play that appeals to the best emotions of the soul, causing now the laugh to rise to the lips, and later a subduing pathos to moisten the eye. A play pure in tone, teaching a lesson of the nobleness of true manhood and womanhood. It is one that anyone may witness and leave the theater a better, truer man or woman for having seen it. While it is not put forward, as many of the dramas of the present day, as a play with a moral, "a sermon from the stage," nevertheless it contains a moral and a purpose, just as true and valuable as if it had been written with the sole intent of so doing.

Modjeska.

Modjeska, who has not visited Toledo in two years, will play an engagement of one night, next Wednesday evening, at the Wheeler opera house, presenting Schiller's great histrionic drama, Mary Stuart. Her company is a large one and said to be very strong. The sale of seats will commence Monday morning.

The company: T. B. Thalberg, John A. Lane, Benj. J. Rogers, Beaumont Smith, Howard Kyle, Delancy Barclay, George Hazelton, Jules Cluzette, Wordsworth Harris, Robert P. Carter, W. A. Shaw, Frank Vincent, Kate Meek, Mrs. Beaumont Smith, Miss Helen Jones, Miss Edith Meek.

INDIAN DAYS AND TROUBLES

The Way in Which Pontiac Was Outgeneraled.

Description of Fort Detroit—Pontiac's Plot and How Major Gladwin's Moccasins Led to Its Revelation.

(By Dr H. Scott.)

On a certain day Pontiac presented himself at Fort Detroit and requested a conference with the commandant. He came attended by his staff, all decorated in their most gaudy trappings. The fort was at that time under the command of Major Gladwin, and to him Chief Pontiac made his request known in the most friendly manner. Major Gladwin responded in the same spirit of friendship and good fellowship. Rumors for preparations for an attack on the fort had been afloat, but it does not appear that Major Gladwin believed in them. The attack was to have been made on the 8th of May, 1763; but the plot was discovered in a way presently to appear, and the fort was saved for the time.

Fort Detroit was at that time altogether the most important point in the fur trade west of Montreal and Quebec. It was not, however, in a military sense, a strong post. The inclosure consisted of a single row of pickets forming nearly a square of 1,000 feet on each line, with gates opening towards the river, as also on the other squares. There were block houses at the four corners and over the gates. Between the stockades and the rows of houses, all round, was an open court. The guns consisted of only two six-pounders and one three-pounder, all said to have been of indifferent quality. The garrison at the time consisted of 160 men and officers. There were also within the fort, habitually, about forty hardy men who were engaged in the fur trade. It will therefore be seen that the defense was altogether inadequate against so large a body of savages as that which was menacing the post, for the whole body of the enemy were well armed, and commanded by the most wiley and treacherous Indian chief living.

Everything was conducted on the part of Pontiac under the guise of friendship, for the purpose of disarming suspicion, and it was not believed that he had the least idea of his betrayal previous to entering the fort on the morning of the 8th day of May, the time fixed for the conference.

At the appointed hour Pontiac, accompanied by 300 warriors, all apparently unarmed, presented himself and was promptly admitted. He was greatly surprised as he walked up the open space at seeing so much activity inside the fort, and that it was apparently in the best possible condition for defence. He may or may not have suspected that all was not right for his plans. Whatever may have been his thoughts, it was said he showed marked signs of agitation, when Major Gladwin appeared accompanied by a large number of soldiers with their guns cocked. He inquired if all this military display was necessary for a mere friendly conference, and was informed that it was necessary to keep the men on active duty all the time, lest they might forget their drill.

The conference was opened, though it was evident that the chief was uneasy. He however made his charateristic speech, and was just about to present the English officer with a belt, when suddenly the drums of the fort began to beat the charge; and the chief was thunderstruck at seeing the soldiers level their guns at the breasts of the Indians, while the officers unsheathed their swords.

The great warrier broke down. There could no longer be any doubt that his plot had been discovered; and now discretion admonished him to save his men as well as his own life. He was disconcerted, trembled and hesitated, and the belt was not presented.

The crisis had come and Major Gladwin was previously prepared to meet it. He stepped forward to the chief and with his sword pushed aside the blanket that hung well down over Pontiac's colossal form, and pointed to the shortened rifle that was concealed beneath, at the same time sternly charging him with his perfidy and treachery, and ordering him and his men to leave the fort at once. He had promised him safe ingress and egress, and he would keep to his word, even with so base a traitor.

Had he shot down both the chief and his warriers when he had them at his mercy, it would have saved the horrors and bloodshed which followed—at least much of it. Gladwin's sense of honor was probably too acute; for had not accident placed in his possession a knowledge of the plot, and of the manner of its execution, it is more than probable that every life in the fort would have been sacrificed.

Pontiac led his men silently and sullenly away, and when they had gained the outside of the palisades they rent the air with a shout of defiance, and at the same time hurried a volly of shots harmlessly against the pickets. In their rage they butchered an English family consisting of a widow and two sons, as likewise a farmer and his family, and four soldiers who lived outside the fort.

The Plot.

Major Gladwin had been employing an Indian woman to make him some moccasins, and had furnished her with dressed skins for the purpose. She came to bring them, and so well pleased was he with the work, that he agreed with her to make him another pair, and delivered her the materials. She lingered about the door, and contrary to Indian custom, seemed no way inclined to leave the premises. She went out and returned, and remained outside the door, seemingly in deep thought. The commandant sent for her and questioned her as to why she remained. She told him she did not like to take the skins away, for she could never bring them back. This strange reply excited his suspicions so that he began a systematic examination, which he kept up until, finally, by positive assurances that no harm should come to her, he succeeded in drawing from her a succinct statement of the entire plot, and how it was to be carried out.

The interview asked for was a ruse by which Pontiac intended to get inside the fort with 300 picked warriors, every one of whom was to carry concealed under his blanket his short rifle, besides his tomahawk and scalping knife. The signal for the onslaught was to be the presentation of the belt, when the warriors were to throw off their blankets, seize their rifles and shoot down the commandant and his attendants, and then rush upon the garrison with tomahawk and knife and slaughter every one within the stockade. Some of his men were to rush to the gates and throw them open to allow the crowd awaiting without to enter and join in the bloody work.

The chief's hesitation in presenting the belt saved, for the time being, the carnage that otherwise would have ensued, and which would probably have resulted in the utter destruction of the traitorous band of cut-throats.

Good policy would have been followed if Major Gladwin had used his advantage and fired on Pontiac's band while they were off their guard and in his power. This opinion the reader will doubtless concur in when he reads the siege of Fort Detroit. But if it were true that the Indians were prompted by the French still residing about the fort, then should the retribution have fallen chiefly on them.

THE ETHICS OF STORY-TELLING.

It seems to us that in good fiction evil must appear as a foil for good; that it must be set over against righteousness so as to make black black indeed and white purely white. The story-teller need have no express moral hobby to ride posthaste; his tale will be all the better if told with the pure love of story-telling; but we may be quite sure that his taste is unsound if he chooses a salacious story to tell and gives it the unction of personal rehearsal. Here, indeed, is where we would draw the line. Evil can be used by the artist with clean hands and to wholesome effect by contrasting it with a healthy, solid protection of good. The chief trouble with current realism is that it does not do this, but chooses to set hopeless evil and nerveless commonplace side by side without any triumphant moral heroism to dominate or neutralize it. The ethics of fiction shines in the character, the moral nature of the story, more than in the ostensible or even the actual moral purpose of the author. It is the general effect that the work is likely to produce when read by the aggregate of readers which must be a large element of the test.—The Chautauquan.

AFTER THE GRIPPE.

The Grippe Responsible for More Deaths after Recovery than During Its Course—How to Avoid the Danger.

Grippe, in itself, is bad enough, debilitating enough, but it is the after effects, the slowness of recovery that give it its great danger. In most cases, the person did not have sufficient vitality to rally after the disease itself had passed. The forces of nature were too weak to contend with the debility which the Grippe had left.

It is sad to think how many people have died who might have been saved if nature had been properly assisted and fortified after the Grippe had been driven from the system. Many physicians realized this fact and assisted their patients over the dangerous after effects by bracing up and stimulating their systems. This was, and can be done in but one way, and that is by the steady and moderate use of some pure yet powerful stimulant. There is but one absolutely pure and medicinal stimulant known to the profession and to the public, and that is Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. The most prominent scientists and physicians of the land endorse its purity and value. It is not a new whiskey, it has been before the public for years. It is not a cheap decoction, but a pure distillation. It imparts a tone to the system possible in no other manner and sends the blood coursing through the veins with renewed vigor. If is superior in every respect and however much any unscrupulous druggist or grocer may seek to lead you to believe to the contrary do not be deceived.

FREE TEXT BOOKS.

Petition of the Knights of Labor in the District of Columbia.

District Assembly No. 66, Knights of Labor, have addressed a lengthy communication to the committee on appropriations of the house, in which they, as an official body, urge that committee to appropriate $85,000 for the completion of the free text book system in the public schools of the district. The system was adopted last year, they say, at the instigation of the labor organizations, but the appropriation of $25,000 was sufficient to provide books for the first four grades only.

The communication then says:

This year the school board recommended the completion of the system, and have submitted an estimate to the commissioners of $85,000, as follows: Continuing first four grades, $10,000; fifth grade, $12,115.89; sixth grade, $17,189.67; seventh grade, $15,000; eighth grade, $15,517.43; high schools, $15,000; total, $84,823.09.

The commissioners have seen fit to cut this down, and to ask in their estimate for $35,000 only, as follows: Continuing first four grades, $10,000; fifth and sixth grades, $25,000; total, $35,000.

This is less by over $4,000 for these two grades, as estimated by the board, and leaves the other grades unprovided for. Against this policy the assembly protests, and urges the appropriation of the full amount. In support of this claim they present a lengthy argument. It is claimed, first, to be a wise move in the interest of economy. At public expense the books could be bought for $45,517.43, as against a private cost to the parents of $56,897.16. It is figured that the life of a book is three years, but that parents must buy every year, so that the comparison becomes stronger when the figures of three years' purchases, ammounting to $170,691.48, are set alongside of $45,517.43.

Another argument made is that with free books the attendance would be greater. "The working people whom we represent," says the assembly, "are anxious to have the bar to education which the great cost of books interposes removed at once. The expenditures on streets and public works outside of the city, and in advance of real public need, should be postponed if necessary, and the sum of $85,000 used to make the schools free in fact as well as in name."

The assembly also urges that inasmuch as the policy of free books has been adopted all branches should be treated alike. By public purchase it is claimed books well printed and bound could be had. The communication which is signed by Paul T. Bowen, Millard F. Hobbs, and L. P. Wild as a committee, concludes with the plea that "in the interest of economy, the relief of people of small incomes, increased attendance, saving of the school years of children, equality of patrons of the schools, power in dealing with the school book monopoly, and general improvement in the schools, we ask that the system be completed at once."—Washington Post.

PLEA FOR WOMEN'S HOLIDAYS.

Man Has at Least Eight a Year—Woman Has None.

Does any one, except, perhaps, the housewife herself, reflect how the holidays are multiplying for teachers, preachers, merchants and workmen—all sorts and conditions of men, and how we may look in vain the calendar through for a single holiday for women? New Year's day, Washington's birthday, Memorial day, the Fourth of July, Labor day, Thanksgiving, election day and Christmas. On each of these days of rest for men, as well as on Sunday, the great day when even the ox and the ass are to do no work, the woman of the house is expected to prepare a better and more elaborate dinner for her lord and master, to keep the baby more quiet, and to see that the children are not noisy that the husband be not disturbed. Besides this, there is a demand already conceded in some cities for a Saturday half holiday and a very general demand for eight hours work instead of ten, all of which releases not the wife and mother from the ceaseless round of care that makes her older at 40 than her husband is at 60. Why do not the housewives combine, form a union, and strike to be taken out to dinner on every holiday when the man does not labor? Suppose she let the fire go out in her range when he locked his office, and they both went out to a meal, perhaps more simple and less perfectly cooked than she might prepare it. Suppose she loosed the leash of worry and smoothed the care lines out of her face once a week, would he not be the gainer as well as she?—New York Sun.

MUSK IN A MOSQUE.

In Constantinople the Mohammedan mosque of Sophia is pervaded always by a strong smell of musk. In order to supply this perfume, which was freely mixed with the mortar and cement which bound together the stones, thousands upon thousands of the musk antelopes were slaughtered. Thus while one stone is left upon another of this ancient and interesting building the odor of musk must remain to refresh or annoy its visitors, according as the sense is affected.

The remarkable growth which, till within two years, was brought about principally by one person telling another, is a monument to Garfield Tea's merits.

THE SIN OF IT.

By the hoof of the wild goat up-tossed
From the cliff where she lay in the sun
Fell the stone
To the tarn where the daylight is lost;
So she fell from the light of the sun,
And alone.

Now the fall was ordained from the first,
With the goat, and the cliff, and the tarn;
But the stone
Knows only her life is accursed,
As she sinks in the depths of the tarn,
And alone.

O thou who hast builded the world!
O thou who hast lighted the sun!
O thou who hast darkened the tarn!
Judge thou
The sin of the stone that was hurled
By the goat from the light of the sun,
As she sinks in the mire of the tarn,
Even now, even now, even now!
—Rudyard Kipling.

INSANITY IN PARIS.

A Study of the Effects of Alcohol in the Police Station.

At the police station the quietly disposed are sorted out and separated from the violent criminals. In the morning the latter are brought up for examination by the chief medical officer of the prefecture of police who does his best to ascertain whether he has to do with lunatics or malefactors. The eminent man who has filled this post for many years is Dr. Paul Garnier, and he it was who kindly consented to suspend in my favor the rule which excludes from his examining room all persons who are not members of the staff.

This small, low-ceilinged room has witnessed many dramas, for between its narrow walls are conducted nightly the malefactors whom the Paris police have caught in the meshes of their net. They enter, held by each shoulder, between two wardens. In their eyes one reads the terror of an animal caught in a trap. They are aware that here are the cross roads where their fate is to be decided; on the right the madhouse, on the left the convict prison. And all, whether mad or only feigning madness take refuge in incoherent or outrageous language, in stupor or convulsions.

Closely observant, taking notes, or drawing reports, Dr. Garnier sits behind his table. Sad indeed is the conclusion arrived at by his medical practice. His figures prove that during the last 16 years (from 1872 to 1888) lunacy has increased in Paris in the proportion of 30 per cent. This increase is due to the fact that two morbid types, general paralysis and alcoholic insanity, are spreading to an alarming extent. The progress of alcoholic insanity has been so rapid that the evil is now twice as prevalent as it was 15 years ago.

Almost a third of the lunacy cases observed at the depot infirmary are due to this disease, and every day it declares itself more violent and with more marked homicidal tendency. The accomplice of two-thirds of the crimes committed upon whom the criminals themselves throw the responsibility of their evil deeds, and whom the police never succeed in discovering, exists. That accomplice is alcohol! It visits upon the child the sins of the father, and engenders in the following generation homicidal instincts. During the last ten years the criminal type has entered on a new phase. Before that date the assassin was generally a man in the vigor of his strength and manhood; he had tasted life in all its forms. Such were Tropmann, Prado, Eyraud, Pranzini. Nowadays it is the youth of barely 20 who murders. The jurymen hesitate to condemn him on account of his youth, although they are horrified at his cold-blooded ferocity, and at the absence of moral sense which he displays.—Fortnightly Review.

"For the last twenty years I have been using Allcock's Porous Plasters. They have repeatedly cured me of rheumatic pains and pains in my side and back. Whenever I have a cold, one on my chest and one on my back speedily relieve me.
"My family are never without them.

THRILLED BY NUMERALS.

Mme. Modjeska, like the rest of humanity, is not averse to an occasional joke, and one of a practical nature which she recently played upon a supremely swell assemblage was rather unique in its conception. A dinner in her honor had been given at a certain Fifth avenue mansion, and toward the close the guests joined the hostess in a request that madame would favor them with a brief recitation. She stated her willingness to oblige, but though she racked her brain nothing apropos recurred to her, and finally she begged to be let off with a short selection in her native tongue. The suggestion was applauded and madame began.

Although her listeners could not understand the words, her gestures and some thrilling tones held them enchained until the final syllable, when she was overwhelmed with plaudits.

As she was preparing to depart her hostess asked her for the title of the selection she had given, and much to her surprise madame went into a small paroxysm of laughter.

"I am sorry to deceive you," she said, smiling, "but my recitation hasn't any name. My memory failed so badly that as a last resort I recited the numbers from one to two hundred and thirty in Polish.—New York Advertiser.

WEARY MOTHERS

LOOK AT THIS.
Are these not healthy and bright children? Their appearance does not misrepresent them; they are both healthy and bright. They are the son and daughter of Mr. J. P. Wiley, of Dorchester, Mass., and he has an interesting story to tell in regard to them. The story is as follows:

"In 1885 my wife, accompanied by my little boy, at that time 11 months old, was visiting relatives in Scranton, Penna. The little fellow was suffering untold agony cutting his teeth. My wife was told to try Dr. Hand's Teething Lotion. The effect was magical. It did not stupefy the child, as most remedies of this character do; it simply soothed the pain of the burning and aching gums. I might write a volume, had I the time, praising this remedy, and then not express my feelings or do it justice, it is simply marvellous. After her return to Boston she wanted another bottle, but I found that it was unknown in this city. I corresponded with Dr. Hand, and received in reply a sample of each of his remedies. I used them on both my children, recommended them to all my friends, and have yet to find the person who, after using the remedies, especially Teething Lotion and Colic Cure, that could not praise them. People may say, and have said to me: 'Oh, there must be something in that Teething Lotion that affects a child's brain.' In reply to this, I will say I have two children, a boy and girl, who have been treated with Teething Lotion since time of beginning to end of teething, and I challenge any person to furnish two with any clearer brains. I cheerfully recommend them to parents who love their little ones."

A little book, illustrated, full of sense and suggestion, or sample bottle, will be sent to any one in the land, FREE.

DOCTORS FRANCE AND OTTMAN,
Formerly of New York, now the Celebrated Examinig Physicians of the France Medical and Surgical Institute, Columbus, Ohio, by request of many friends and patients have decided to visit Toledo,
Dr. Ottman will visit Toledo, Saturday, Jan. 30.
Dr. France will visit Toledo, Wednesday, Feb. 17
Consultation and Examination Free and Strictly Confidential in the Private Parlor of the Burnett House from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m., one day only.
The Doctors describe the different diseases better than the sick can themselves. It is a wonderful gift for any one to possess. Their diagnostic powers have created wonders throughout the country.
The France Medical and Surgical Institute of Columbus, Ohio, is the only Medical Institute in the State Incorporated with a Capital of $300,000.00.

DR. OTTMAN, the Celebrated Examining Surgeon of the FRANCE MEDICAL AND SURGICAL INSTITUTE,
38 & 40 W. Gay St., one block N. of State House, Columbus, O. Incorporated, 1886. Capital, $300,000.
DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, of New York, the well known and successful Specialists in Chronic Diseases and Diseases of the Eye and Ear, on account of their large practice in Ohio, have established the FRANCE MEDICAL INSTITUTE, where all forms of Chronic, Nervous and Private Diseases will be successfully treated on the most Scientific principles. They are ably assisted by a full corps of eminent Physicians and Surgeons, each one being a well known specialist in his profession
CANCER positively cured without pain or use of the knife, by a new method.
IMPORTANT TO LADIES.—DR. FRANCE, after years of experience, has discovered the greatest cure known for all diseases peculiar to the sex. Female diseases positively cured by the new remedy, OLIVE BLOSSOM. The cure is effected by home treatment. Entirely harmless and easily applied. Consultation Free and Strictly Confidential. Correspondence promptly answered.

YOUNG MEN—Who have become victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit, which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of exalted talent and brilliant intellect, may call with confidence.
DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, after years of experience, have discovered the greatest cure known for weakness in the back and limbs, involuntary discharges, impotency, general debility, nervousness, languor, confusion of ideas, palpitation of the heart, timidity, trembling, dimness of sight, or giddiness, diseases of the head, throat, nose, or skin, affections of the liver, lungs, stomach, or bowels—these terrible disorders arising from the solitary vice of youth—and secret practices, blighting their most radiant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage impossible. Take one candid thought before it is too late. A week or month may place your case beyond the reach of hope. Our method of treatment will speedily and permanently cure the most obstinate case, and absolutely restore perfect manhood.
TO MIDDLE-AGED MEN.—There are many from the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight burning or smarting sensation, weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examination of the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will be found, or the color will be a thin or milkish hue. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is a second stage of seminal weakness. We will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—We have a special department, thoroughly organized, and devoted exclusively to the treatment of diseases of women. Every case consulting our specialists, whether by letter or in person, is given the most careful and considerate attention. Important cases, and we get few which have not baffled the skill of all the home physicians) have the benefit of a full council of skilled specialists. In treatment of diseases peculiar to females, our success has been marked, over two thirds of our patients being ladies, old, young, married, single, rich and poor. Our method is entirely free from objectionable features of the general practitioner, namely, "Local treatment." We seldom find it necessary. We prepare remedies, constitutional and local, as the case demands, and instruct ladies how to treat themselves.
MARRIAGE.—Married persons, or young men contemplating marriage, aware of physical weakness, loss of procreative powers, impotency, or any other disqualification, speedily restored.
PRIVATE DISEASES.—Blood Poison, Venereal Taint, Gleet, Stricture, Seminal Emissions, Loss of Sexual Power, Weakness of Sexual Organs, Want of Desire in Male or Female, whether from imprudent habits of youth or sexual habits of mature years, or any cause that debilitates the sexual functions, speedily and permanently cured. Consultation free and strictly confidential. Absolute cures guaranteed. Medicines sent free from observation to all parts of the United States.
EPILEPSY, OR FITS—Positively cured by a new and never-failing method. Testimonials furnished.
FREE EXAMINATION OF THE URINE.—Each person applying for medical treatment should send or bring from 2 to 4 ounces of urine (that passed first in the morning preferred), which will receive a careful chemical and microscopical examination, and if requested a written analysis will be given.
Persons ruined in health by unlearned pretenders, who keep trifling with them month after month, giving poisonous and injurious compounds, should apply immediately. Delays are dangerous.
WONDERFUL CURES Perfected in old cases which have been neglected or unskilfully treated. No experiments or failures. Parties treated by mail or express, but where possible, personal consultation is preferred. Curable cases guaranteed. No risks incurred.
Cases and correspondence confidential. Treatment sent C. O. D. to any part of U. S. List of 130 questions free. Address, with postage, DR. FRANCE. Nos. 38 and 40 W. Gay St., Columbus, O.

CATARRH, so very common in this climate, is not a local disease as is generally supposed, but is constitutional, showing itself locally in some of the mucous membranes of the body, and to remove it permanently you have to remove the cause. In fact the only way of treating any disease is by removing the cause that produces it, and nature will do the rest. This is the manner in which we treat all diseases under our specialties and the secret of our success is in the ability to determine the starting point or cause of your trouble.

Don't Suffer—Catarrh Can be Cured
It commences with a cold in the head, soreness of the throat, hacking cough, hawking and spitting in the morning, raising lumps of matter which form in the throat, the nose passages stopped up, and difficulty of breathing, pain above and between the eyes. Catarrh also causes a very offensive smell, which the sufferers would not be aware of, but which is very disagreeable to those associating with them.
I want my remedies to reach everyone, both rich and poor. One box will cure any case. It makes no difference how long you have had catarrh.

A Sylvania couple sleigh riding on Canton avenue last evening were thrown from their cutter on account of the horses running away, being frightened by an electric car. The lady was injured somewhat, but was able to return home.

At the session of the ways and means committee, an ordinance was approved for the issue of $93,000 of intersection bonds. The matter of issuing $100,000 of bonds for the fire department was laid over, so that a consultation may be had with the fire commissioners.

Rev. Dr. Fish, while groping in the dark for the gas jet in one of the rooms at his residence, ran his head against it last evening and received a severe gash, as a result of which he had a night off from prayer meeting. The doctor may stir up a black eye because of the mishap, and will then have occasion to explain the condition of the other fellows. At least, that's the style for everybody except parsons.

WHAT A VOTE OF THANKS

Would be passed if babies could speak of Dr. Hand's Colic Cure. Thousands have been cured by it. Absolutely safe. R. C. Spohn, D. Harpster & Co., Bowers & Frederich, Geo. C. Nill, and Thos. Vanstone, the druggists, give away samples to those who doubt this statement.

LAMSON BROS.

THE WAY TO GO.

You have seen California frequently mentioned in newspapers and magazines. Perhaps a friend has been there and writes enthusiastic letters back home about the climate and the fruits. It makes you anxious to see the country for yourself.

The time to go is in the fall and winter. Then work here is least pressing and California climate is most pleasing. The way to go is via Santa Fe route, on one of that line's popular, personally-conducted parties, leaving Chicago every Saturday evening and leaving Kansas City every Sunday morning.

Special agents and porters in attendance. Pullman tourist sleepers are used, furnished with bedding, mattresses, toilet articles, etc. Second-class tickets honored. Write to Geo. E. Gilman, Michigan Passenger Agent Santa Fe route, for folder describing these excursions.

Taylor's flour is used by the Irish because it is the whitest flour in the market.

WALKING AS A CURE FOR INSOMNIA.

I do not believe that any one, not down sick, needs to suffer from sleeplessness who will walk prudently, regularly and sufficiently. I have found it a sovereign cure. The only trouble is that walking makes me sleep too long and too soundly. A good many years ago, some hours after the close of a day on which I had done an extra amount of tramping, I arrived at my destination, and speedily sought my couch. I did not wake until the morning sun was shining brightly, and then it was to discover that I was in the midst of the utmost confusion. The windows had been driven in, and broken glass and twigs were scattered all about my room. There had been a fearful storm in the night, a portion of the roof over me had been carried away, trees had been uprooted, chimneys overturned and everybody had deserted the house except myself, and I had been as totally forgotten as I was oblivious.—Belford's Magazine.

A PLEASING SENSE

THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION IN EUROPE.

The Reformation was led by scholars trained in the universities. The chief reformers became professors in the universities which passed from the control of the church under the control of the state. Theological education in Europe has been chiefly conducted through the theological faculties of the universities until the present time. There have been diocesan schools and provincial seminaries of various kinds, but these have been supplementary to the universities and designed chiefly for the training for the ministry of those who for various reasons were unable to pursue the course of theology at the universities or in the interest of parties in the churches. In all the national churches of Protestant Europe the normal theological education is carried on at the universities.—The Forum.

THE MOTHER'S SAFEGUARD:

A remedy that will save life and not take long to do it. Dr. Hoxsie's Certain Croup Cure, for croup and diphtheria, is the one. 50 cents.

THE RUDDER.

Of what are you thinking of my little lad,
with the honest eyes of blue,
As you watch the vessels that slowly glide
o'er the level ocean floor?
Beautiful, graceful, silent as dreams, they pass away from our view,
And down the slope of the world they go,
to seek some far-off shore.

They seem to be scattered abroad by chance,
to move at the breezes' will,
Aimlessly wandering hither and yon, and melting in distance gray;
But each one moves to a purpose firm, and the winds their sails that fill
Like faithful servants speed them all on their appointed way.

For each has a rudder, my dear little lad,
with a staunch man at the wheel,
And the rudder is never left to itself, but the will of man is there;
There is never a moment, day or night, that the vessel does not feel
The force of the purpose that shapes her course and the helmsman's watchful care.

Some day you will launch your ship, my boy, on life's wide, treacherous sea;
Be sure your rudder is wrought of strength
to stand the stress of the gale;
And your hand on the wheel, don't let it
flinch, whatever the tumult be,
For the will of man, with the help of God,
shall conquer and prevail.
—Celia Thaxter in St. Nicholas.

TO MY FRIENDS AND PATRONS.

Having associated with me Dr. Owen C. Rees, of Chicago, and illness at the present time preventing me from personally introducing him, I take this method of recommending him as a physician and surgeon of rare ability, with several years of valuable experience.

For the last fifteen months he has been connected with the Cook County Hospital (Chicago), one of the largest institutions of its kind in the country, and he is thoroughly qualified to treat any case that may be intrusted to his care. Dr. Rees is withal an accomplished gentleman, and I bespeak for him your consideration and confidence.

CRIME IN MASSACHUSETTS.

The commitments for drunkenness in 1841 were 1,143 in a total of 3,692 for all offenses. In 1890 they were 25,686 in a total of 28,922. Excluding the commitments for drunkenness the commitments in 1841 were 2,813. In 1890 they were 7,450 (the commitments to state prison being omitted in both cases). The population of the state had trebled. If the number of commitments for other offenses than drunkenness had increased at the same rate they would have been 8,439. They were only 7,450. In other words, the increase in the commitments for serious offenses was not as large by about 12 per cent. as the increase in population.—Warren F. Spalding.

Every factory and workshop in the land should keep on hand Salvation Oil. 25 cts. The most reliable family medicine for coughs and colds is Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

A story is told of a now celebrated attorney who, when he first appeared before the United States supreme court to argue a case, started in to make a speech such as he had been in the habit of inflicting on judges. He was at once stopped with the remark: "Counsel will please confine himself to the law in the case; we have no time to listen to eloquence."
